Park Plan Promised by Jan.

A 10-year pay-as-you-go park development plan throughout the county with various levels of development and annual cost to taxpayers for each will be presented to the Board of Supervisors by January 1, Park and Recreation Chairman Gordon Langlois told the board Tuesday.

County Park Director Duane (Doc) Mattison said the plan would include other lands in addition to proposed parks on East Bay Municipal Utility District property.

Supervisors warned the commission to be conservative in its estimates on how much the county could budget for parks.

LANGLOIS TOLD supervisors that after the recent meeting between his group and the water district board of directors, he was optimistic because of what he called a "major change in district attitudes."

"We were told the district would allow limited use of the water surfaces at its Lafayette and Briones Reservoirs," Langlois reported. "But the directors said they would not open San Pablo Reservoir for recreation, since it is a final terminal used to entrap water before it goes to consumers.

"In addition, they said they would allow the recreational use of district-owned lands adjacent to and near all three lakes if the county would provide supervision of park activities," he added.

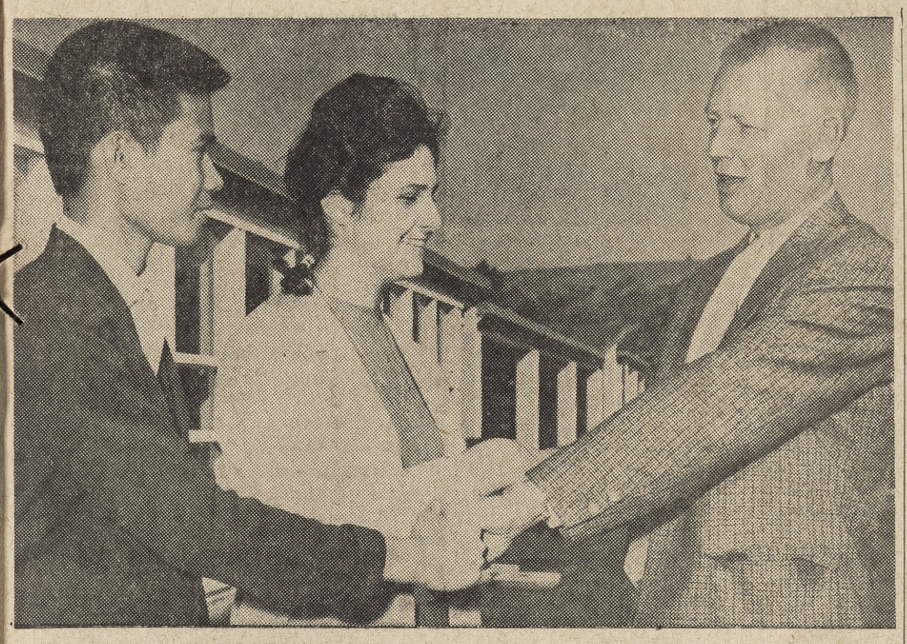
The district also agreed to give the county between 60 and 90 days to come up with a definite proposal for purchasing three water district-owned sites, he said.

THESE ARE 1250 acres at San Pablo Reservoir, 90 acres in Redwood Canyon and a 500-acre addition to the 1435 acres already being purchased by the county near the Briones Reservoir.

All of these sites were included in the defeated park bond issue last June.

"The district feels it cannot legally make an outright gift of its lands to the county," stated Langlois. "The directors explained they will hold lands open for later purchase by the county only if we have a firm park acquisition plan.

"The 10-year proposal, with our needs and goals outlined, could serve as a basis for negotiations with the water district and private landowners alike," concluded Langlois.



MUSTAPHA "MOOSE" PLANG, left, from the Philippines, and Isa Ferrari, from Italy, are welcomed to Miramonte by Principal James Lewis. "Moose" and Isa will spend a year at the Orinda high school as part of the American Field Service exchange program. The annual local fund drive will be October 20-21.

Getting To Know You

What better way is there to promote world understanding and friendship than getting to know Mustapha Plang and Isa Ferrari?

In return, the boy from the Philippines and the girl from Italy will get to know Orindans by living amongst us for the next year.

THIS IS made possible through the American Field Service program. Each high school in the county has exchange students drawn from all over the world: South Africa, England, South America, Switzerland.

Miramonte High School's exchange students have traveled from completely opposite sides of the globe, Italy and the Philippines, to be welcomed here by Miramonte principal James Lewis.

Isa is 16 and comes from Cremona, Italy. Her family raises wheat, corn and cattle in a farming community about 100 miles from Milan.

Isa and her 20-year-old brother have attended the Liceo Linguistico, a school of classical languages.

Her American family is the Robert L. Nichols of 18 Don Gabriel Way in Orinda. Her new "sister," Roberta, is a senior at Miramonte.

MUSTAPHA, promptly dubbed "Moose" by his new Miramonte friends, is 18. He comes from the island of Mindanao in the Philippines, and is an only child "with many cousins."

His father was a chieftain in the province of Cota Bato. His mother, who has attended Cornell University in the United States, is a secretary at the Institute of Technology of Mindanao, where "Moose" was a student.

His new "parents" are Dr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Neighbor of 30 La Cintilla, Orinda. His new "brother," Fred Neighbor, is a senior at Miramonte.

TWO MIRAMONTE students are living abroad this year under the A.F.S. program.

Bonnie Winters, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Winters, 44 Estates Drive, is in Tubingen, Germany.

Ken Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, 147 Canyon Drive, is in Basel, Switzerland.

THE A.F.S. is supported by funds from the community. "October 20-21, Miramonte students will be knocking at your door for the annual fund drive. Your contribution will help toward world peace," said Mrs. Frank Leibold, Jr., 301 Overhill Drive, Orinda, chairman for the drive.

Orinda Way—Gasoline Alley?

Nor-Cal Requests Permit For Gas Station No. 10

A tenth gas station for Orinda will meet with stiff opposition from community leaders.

Nor-Cal, a premium type gas station, will apply for a land use permit. The public hearing will be October 24 at 7:30 p.m. in room 210, Hall of Records, Court and Main Streets, Martinez.

Nor-Cal proposes to locate a sation on Orinda Way, with 197-foot frontage, between the Plaza and Lucky store.

THE PROPERTY is owned by Orinda Development Company. It is headed by Tom Ferguson, Ted Greenfield and Dave Kittinger.

Ferguson, partner in Ferguson and Glenn, Oakland law firm, resides at 1 Irving Lane. He was in court; unavailable for comment.

Eight stations are now operating in Orinda. A ninth is being built in the village.

The Orinda Association will go "all-out" in opposition to another gas station for Orinda, according to Eric Nielsen, president.

Although the matter has not yet been presented before the chamber, President Ed Amatrone voiced his personal disturbance at the possibility of gas station No. 10.

"IT IS INCONCEIVABLE that any landowner would allow another gas station to go in to complete frontage on Orinda Way as another 'gasoline alley,'" said John Ogden, president of Orinda Rotary. Ogden's store is adjacent to the proposed station No. 10.

"With eight operating stations, and one under way, I feel that the population of Orinda will be able to get gasoline without having further outlets made available," Ogden said.

BOTH NOR-CAL and Texaco are attempting to locate in Orinda, according to Ogden.

Originally, the Orinda Development Company planned to acquire surrounding property and build a "rustic type" shopping center.

Architect Clayton Von Wagner of Lafayette drew up plans for the proposed shopping center. The architect's rendering was published in the September 21 Orinda Sun.

THEIR INTENTION, according to Ferguson's statement mid-August, was "to build something similar to 'Town and Country' in Palo Alto.

Petitions and postals of protest are asked to be sent to Supervisor Mel Nielsen, according to Ogden.

Nielsen Files For Bankruptcy After Five Years

County Supervisor Mel F. Nielsen told The Sun yesterday he had tried to avoid bankruptcy proceedings for five years before creditors forced him to file.

His petition was filed in Federal Court in San Francisco, according to an announcement last week.

Nielsen, who operated a tire business in Lafayette until last January, said that supervising county affairs kept him too busy to supervise management of his firm.

When he contracted debts with wholesalers five years ago, he said, the creditors agreed not to foreclose. Agreements fell through this year, he said, and he decided to give up the business.

He listed assets as $9250 and debts as $17,112.

He has no future business plans, he added.

Nominations for Orinda Assoc. Board to Be Made

Nominations for the board of directors of the Orinda Association will be made Monday night. The Civic Affairs Committee of the association will meet at 8 p.m in the auditorium of the Orinda School.

"This will be one of our most important meetings of the year," said Charles Leggee, chairman of the committee.

THE TERMS of directors Eric Nielsen, Arnold Anderson, Pete Petersen and Paul Fanning will expire at the end of this year. The Civic Affairs Committee has responsibility for nominating cies.

The committee will obtain candidates to fill these vacancies. ommendations on eligible candidates from the improvement associations within the districts of the retiring directors. The candidates recommended by the improvement associations will be present at the meeting. Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor.

"If you or your organization have a proposed candidate, please contact the chairman or bs present at the meeting to make your nomination," said Legge.

"THE BOARD of directors of the Orinda Association is the only organization which functions for all of Orinda. The election of interested and qualified persons to be directors is extremely important.

"We urge all interested Orindans to propose qualified candidates for the vacancies. All organizations should be present at the meeting to nominate and review the candidates," said Legge

Moraga Roads Being Relocated By Utah Company

At an estimated cost of over $136,000, several Moraga roads are being relocated by the Utah Construction Company.

When the work is completed, probably next spring, Utah proposed to deed to the county the right-of-way to these roads, according to Vernon Kline, county traffic engineering department.

NEW ALIGNMENT with wider pavements is under construction on St. Mary's Road from Moraga Way to a point 1000 feet east of the intersection with Moraga Road.

Included in the work will be realignment of 350 feet of Canyon Road between Sanders Road and Moraga Way. Also, 1800 feet of St. Mary's Road will be replaced, extending northerly from Moraga Way.

PURPOSE OF the project is to provide new roads which will fit the plan development of the area. This includes a deluxe shopping center, according to Utah representatives.

The old roads were of substandard construction, said Kline. He added that the work is being done under county inspection.

"The county will come out in benefit as the old roads were inadequate. The new roads will include a four-lane right-of-way," he said.

Take Mom Out for Breakfast

Many Moms will have a vacation from cooking breakfast for the family Sunday.

For 50 cents apiece, the Orinda Lions Club will do the job for her. The Lions will serve breakfast to all comers in Black's parking lot from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.

SUPERVISOR Mel Nielsen has volunteered to be one of the cooks. Other chefs will include Vasco Giannini, Andy Anderson and Fire Chief Allen Winsor.

There is a rumor that Chief Winsor was invited to cook so that the fire department would be available in case of burned pancakes.

The menu includes pancakes, sausage and coffee, according to Vasco, who is chairman.

IN CASE of rain, the breakfast will be postponed.

Committee heads are: Andy Anderson, tables and chairs; Ken Courtright, publicity; Mario Albo, work; Allen Winsor, equipment, and Vasco Giannini, food.

MacDonald Elected

Clyde L. MacDonald of Orinda was recently elected to serve as an associate director of the National Association of Accountants, San Francisco Chapter, for the coming year.

MacDonald, 206 Overhill Road, is secretary-treasurer of Buzzell Electric Company, San Francisco.

Lions Hear Nielsen

Supervisor Mel Nielsen spoke to the Orinda Lions Club Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Casa Orinda. His subject was the Bay Area Rapid Transit.

Book Fair Is Planned by Community Church

Miss Qual Hawkins, well-known author of children's books and authority on them, will address the opening session of the Book Fair at the Orinda Community Church Thursday, at 7:30 p.m.

The fair will be from October 18-21, in the church's fellowship hall. The address is 10 Irwin Way, Orinda.

MISS HAWKINS is consultant for libraries and book fairs at Sather Gate Book Shop, Berkeley.

"She will bring a delightful selection of books for children," said Mrs. Clark Rucker, church librarian.

Books for adults, as well as children, will be on display from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. from October 18-21, and after both services on the 21st.

"Books may be ordered and will be available for early Christmas gifts," according to Mrs Everett Howe, chairman of the church library committee.

GRETCHEN HOWE will tell stories and play her guitar at 10 a.m. October 20. The program will be geared for children from four to seven years.

At 2:30, October 20, Sharon Sturch, new Orinda librarian, will tell folklore stories for children eight to 12 years.

Children will be entertained in the church library while parents look at the book displays. Punch and cookies will be served to the children after the children hour.

Goldilocks will be portrayed by an Orinda girl at festivities at Oakland's Fairyland tomorrow and Sunday.

Judy Allen, 118 Scenic Drive, was formerly queen. She will be costumed as Goldilocks to herald the arrival of two famed sea-farers, Sinbad and Christopher Columbus.

Political Meetings Are Numerous

It's politics, politics and more politics in Contra Costa County this week and next.

Today at 12 noon, county Democrats will hear John A. Carver, U.S. assistant secretary of the interior, speak during a luncheon at the Concord Inn.

Unable to attend is U.S. Senator Hubert Humphrey, who has been detained in Washington, D.C., as "Democratic Whip."

Also, many Democrats today are attending the funeral of Congressman Clem Miller, who died in a plane crash.

Next Tuesday, Republicans will hold their "Rheem Republican Razzle Dazzle" at the Rheem Center theatre.

There will be an informal reception at 7:45 p.m., and top Republicans on county, state and national levels will be introduced. A variety show will follow. Tickets are $25 each. Preshow supper parties are being planned.

On Wednesday at 8 p.m., a public rally will be held for Richard Nixon, Republican candidate for California governor, at Richmond auditorium. Admission is free.

'Who Votes In Your Family?'

Dr. Maxine Sehring will be speaker at the Miramonte Parents' Club's meeting Monday at 12:45 p.m. in the faculty dining room. Dr. Sehring's topic will be "Family Council—Who Votes?"

Dr. Sehring has an extensive background in social work. She was on the staff of the Youth Development Center at Stanford University, head of the teen-age clinic of Children's Hospital of San Francisco, plus being a member of the education committee for the Mental Health Association of Contra Costa County.

Modern Square Dance Class to Be Offered

Orinda Recreation Department is sponsoring a beginner course of instruction in modern square dancing.

Featuring a completely new training method and the latest in modern sound equipment, the course will be conducted at Pine Grove School on Wednesday nights.

Instructor for the group will be Ralph York, who has conducted several square dance classes for the Montclair Square Dance Club.

For further information, phone Jeanne Grant at 254-4901.

Youth Ammo Law Passed

After listening to a dramatic plea to prevent further tragedies from a man whose son was killed in a gun accident, the county board of supervisors unanimously approved an ordinance controlling the sale or gifts of live ammunition to persons under 16 years of age.

The only persons who can sell or give live ammunition to children are parents or guardians or other adults authorized by parents.

This ordinance will go into effect in 30 days in all unincorporated areas of the county.

WILLIAM COOK, 39 Donna Maria Way, Orinda, whose son was killed in a recent accident, said there have been five juvenile gun accidents in the past few months.

"Minors now can't buy firecrackers, liquor, cigarettes, or even, I understand, wooden matches," Cook said. "But they can buy any kind of live ammunition."

He added that he realized there would still be accidents, but at least the new ordinance would save some lives.

Several compromises were made in the original motion. Supervisor Edmund Linscheid, who in the past was opposed to such an ordinance, asked that the age limit be lowered from 18 to 16. This would include those who, by state law, must have had a hunter safety training course in order to have a hunting license.

Cook asked for a change in a section allowing sale with written consent of parents, saying children would write notes of their own.

Supervisor Linscheid made the motion to adopt, which passed unanimously.

Shell Companies Fete Employees

Orinda Country Club was one of two sites for a party hosted by Shell Oil and Shell Chemical companies recently.

Luncheon, golf and swimming was on the agenda for over 500 employees who have worked for the companies for 10 years or more.

Senate Passes Flood Control Planning Funds

Some $222,500 to complete planning of the Walnut Creek Flood Control project was assured recently by Senate Appropriations Committee action in Washington.

The $28,170,000 project "will afford badly-needed protection to Walnut Creek," according to U.S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, member of the committee.

Extension of existing levees, construction of new ones and drainage pumping plants and enlargement of channels are planned under the project.

Federal share of costs is $20,800,000.

So far, the government has spent $129,000 on planning.

DeWitt Is Named To National Mortgage Post

Clinton C. DeWitt, Jr., of Orinda, executive vice-president, Pacific States Mortgage Service, Inc., Oakland, was elected a member of the board of governors of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America. The association held their annual convention in Chicago recently.

DeWitt is a graduate of the University of Michigan and UCLA. He has previously served the association as chairman of the GI committee; as a regional vice-president for three years; and as a member of the executive committee.

He has been a member of the board of directors of the California Mortgage Bankers Association; president and member of the board of the Northern California MBA; and a member of the board of governors of the Athenian Nile Club.

He is also currently vice-chairman of the association's public relations committee.

Highway Hazard Is Before Board

"A very real safety hazard" on Camino Pablo in the Orinda Village area was called to the attention of the board of supervisors Tuesday in a letter from the Orinda Association.

At their regular meeting in the Hall of Records, Martinez, the board read the letter written by Eric H. Nielsen, president of the association. It requested possible reduction of the 65-mile-an-hour speed limit; or signals at one or two intersections.

THE BOARD referred the letter to Mark Kermit, an Orindan, who is county traffic engineer. Kermit will prepare a special report on the matter, according to Supervisor Mel Nielsen.

"The area has been under constant surveillance. El Toyonal-Camino Pablo is fourth on the county's priority list for signals. The Santa Maria-Camino Pablo intersection is third," said Kermit.

The association stated that there is no posted speed limit between the Miner Road interchange with Camino Pablo and the crossroads — a distance of about one and a half miles.

"THERE ARE four major intersections along this road and there have been numerous accidents and near misses, particularly with school children crossing at various intersections," the letter stated.

While Orinda is grateful for the highway which "certainly . . . as traffic volume has increased, a very real traffic safety hazard has developed," said Nielsen.

A possible reduction of the speed limit to 45 miles an hour was suggested in the letter. Heavy equipment using the highway for the Briones Dam project increases the hazard, according to Nielsen.

On Camino Pablo this year, the Santa Maria intersection has had six accidents and the El Toyonal intersection has had two, according to county traffic statistics.

"Santa Maria is much more in need of signals. Sometimes, if something looks dangerous, it is approached with more caution," said Kermit.

Suburbia Scribblings

Of Thee I Sing . . .

BABY, THAT was a beautiful Sunday & how about that Indian Summer weather? It always happens when the swim pool season has come to an end.

With a musical tribute to Gershwin on the car radio & baby by our side, we tooled up the hill to Tilden for The Works . . . A choo-choo ride, the Merry-Go-Round, an ice-cream cone on the rolling lawn & if there wasn't any traffic around town, it was all Up In Tilden Park, which, in case you aren't aware of it, has the most beautiful Merry-Go-Round in the world (Tivoli excepted, perhaps), n'est-ce pas, Mr. William Penn Mott?

Picnic hampers studded the grass, while the calliope organ pumped out its oomp-pa-pa beat w/a slight Twist version of The Blacksmith Blues.

BABY bet on the horses (always the white ones w/flowing manes), but me, I chose that bird that's not too familiar anymore—The Stork, painted deliciously w/chubby cherub of an infant snuggled safely near its heart.

JUST LIKE CENTRAL PARK: The slides & swings, the seesaw things & the fun of listening to foreign accents here & there . . . A young Norwegian Mother posing w/progeny while excited Papa clix their pix . . . Families right out of church in Their Sunday Best . . . & wriggly raucous little ragamuffins who probably don't own any & couldn't care less for all their excitement at the prospect of a carousel ride . . .

SUNNY DAY, hey, hey . . . & John McKee playing catch w/his son . . . Margaret Moore, who recently oped her own new office on Bryant Way, staking her new crisp green & white real estate signs.

Clem Ford bent over his lawn-mower while his moppets & their pals yippy-yoed around him . . . Margaret Cooper lifting granddaughter Susie Stoffel into her Lucky's chair-lift, this little lass the FIRST granddaughter for Margaret after NINE grandsons. (She didn't give up!)

YES, it was quite a weekend & the week was just as glorious . . . Helen Moore ONLY could get away w/wearing those big blue roll curlers & still be an eye-ful, not awful . . . & Clarice Johnson, bound for the United Crusade luncheon at the Claremont, made us reflect on, shall we mention him, Count Marco's crusade on the classic costume . . . If he could see Clarice in her basic black (Elegant!) he'd change his terrible tune . . .

EARLY BIRD Marge Bush bound for the Birdwatcher's first session 8:30 AYEM Mon. at Barbara Bedayn's . . . & BB later taking time to bring "Love-in-a-Mist" seedlings to someone (ME!) who couldn't wait & planted them pre-dinner in the DARK! Valley Art Center's Lois Dugener headed for one of the mid-week Meet The Artist mornings at the new studio, Mt. Diablo Blvd.

This is the Army, Mr. Jones . . . & Misters Lathan (John), Flenner (Don), Peterson (Greg) and Nelson (Kip) were all home from Fort Ord for the wknd. . . . Flenner & Lathan, attdg. NCO School, will be leaders of their squads & Congratulations!

You're My Silver Lining . . .

Orinda Estaters picked a swell sort of a Sunday for their annual Neighborhood bash at the Jack Gilberts' . . . w/Ann & Bernie Fries, Chuck & Claire Craig some of suburbia's set strolling over to the house on Hacienda Circle . . . The Horsey 4-H set heading home from their 4-H Play Day at the Joe Long's Riding Ring . . .

PERT & petite Pat Maggini carrying a bit of sumptuous cloth to be made into a sari, the better to get all gussied up for her holiday w/hubby Chris in Las Vegas . . . & League of Women Voters' Cornelia Adams, looking tres efficient w/script under arm, hurrying to Concord's radio KWUN to which you can tune in wkly. Sat. 9:30 for all kinds of election & ballot info . . . & another kind of Leaguer, Oakland Junior variety, was Nancy Longacre, headed for the Claremont to hear Caspar Weinberger speak to the OSL Ladies.

BETWEEN the new Segreto di Bellezzo's posh salon & the new Orinda Sunshine Center (The Meticulous & The Sublime?) there shouldn't be any more Blue Mondays, Tuesdays or Wednesdays for local ladies. Mon., Tues. & Wed. will be special red-carpet treatment days at Secret of Beauty where Milady gets the full treatment. Which, if she wants, can include having her legs waxed . . . Have you EVER? Me, neither!

More mundane, we have the handsome new quarters for the cleaning & laundry center now located in the former Post Officer spot . . . Launderettes have come a long way since my last acquaintance w/them back in Washington Square as a new bride w/a baby buggy full of laundry. Owner Ted Rosenthal's spot looks like a hotel lobby & after trying the first machine, I found it more fun than Harold's Club.

There are LOADS of machines (all loaded) & the one that changes your dollar bill into quarters cost a Grand all by itself. Fascinating. The machines are all operated from another central machine, I never had so much fun for my money, honey. They all paid off.

THE kids came along for donuts (I had the free coffee). Baby got a balloon, & the handsomely hirsute owner (a Dartmouth-UC man) patiently explained the process of cleaning to me. I bravely threw into two machines—1 handknit Norwegian sweater, a Mexican tweed serape, a hundred-year-old heirloom counterpane, a Danish woven wall hanging, a French chenille sweater, velvet-collared, & mixed up this international hodge-podge w/assorted children's sweaters & skirts, ALL cleaned perfectly beautiful for $4.00 . . . One woman commented, "You are brave indeed!" & I can remember being somewhat of a skeptic myself—just 22 minutes earlier.

Store Manager Art Stuart even forgave me the flood an over-sudded washing machine caused. (I handle everything granular the generous way I dish out wild birdseed, but I've learned my lesson, Mabel, & promise never to do it again.)

THE MACHINES I didn't understand, but I can translate the trip into time saved . . . A whole week's laundry & cleaning was accomplished in less than an hour. At home, my washer would be whining ALL day long.

Now that you've been taken to the cleaners, let's see what else I can dig out from under . . . Oh, yes, those superb pix of Roz Russell in SatEvePost story, "The Kind of Gal I Am," were shot by Orinda's Wayne Miller . . . Tina Cole is TV-testing for "Hawaiian Eye" show . . . & Doug & Lou Adie, writing from Ohio, tell that "It's A Man's World" is filmed right in their own backyard, that being Marietta, new home town of the former Orindans.

SAME SEP issue, read "We're Cheating Our Children" . . . But don't cheat yours. Treat your 4, 5, 6, 7 year olds to Orinda School Board's Gretchen Howe, who story-tells mit guitar, Oct. 20, 10 a.m. at Orinda Community Church . . .

BACKWARD GLANCES: Frankie Schwedhelm (how good to see her back) looking like Mrs. Music Man herself, behind a counter spilling music books at Center Hardware in Rheem . . . Cecile Ambler, still unpacking after their junket to Japan, reports Pam is settled in Tokyo w/a very fine Japanese family & attending American High School there. Brother Smed's nearby to keep on eye.

MAILA MARIA is the pretty name for dghtr. #4 in the Al Tokola household & Frank & Dorothy Davis are on the bib & bottle route w/baby Bruce Richard . . .

WHILE WE caught up on our ironing during the World Series, Mayten member Ruth Barton was cleaning out closets & lining up ski gear for swap as chairman of the CHEB Branch's "SKI SWAP DAY" Oct. 20, 10-5, at the Laf. Vets Hall. Parkas, pants, poles & skis, even housetrailers & boats, ANYTHING that has to do w/skiing will be accepted for the Swap.

Family of the Week

THE BOB THMAN FAMILY
Randy, Jim, Junne, Bob, Steve with pooch Henge and his bone!

Sun photo by Jere Hageman

A Lucky Orinda Dog

When one of the Thaman's sons suggested the above scene for the family picture taken last Sunday, Mother, of course, protested . . . "But you KNOW he's never allowed in the living room with a bone!"

Of course, she was outnumbered and well knew it, after years of experience as Mrs. Robert Thaman, mother of three growing young men.

An Oakland attorney, Bob Thaman has been active in many community affairs. He is vice president of Miramonte Parents' Club, a past president of the Booster's Club, a former prominent ball player himself, and a familiar figure on the local baseball scene, coaching summer league, cubs or American Legion, the latter team sons Randy and Steve played on this past season.

Thaman attended Oakland High School, won his law degrees at U.C. and Boalt Law, still walks with a distinctive basketball player's jaunty bounce that familiarized him on the courts back in his high school heyday. He chairmaned the Committee Against the V.A. Hospital in Orinda and has been active in school and civic life during his long residency here. A hobbyist of stamps, his general philatelic collection is probably the largest in the county and again wife June resignedly sighs . . . "If only there was a whole separate room to HOUSE it." All those stamps and all those boys!

June is a Palo Altoan, a UC graduate, has served on both Pine Grove and Orinda School Parents' Club boards as health chairman. Now with a son in college, she is active in the Inter-Fraternity Mothers' Council, the boys' chief rooter and chauffeur but finds time to play golf and pursue oil painting.

Like father, like sons, the tall trio starts out with Randy, a pre-med student, active sportsman and Beta Theta Pi at UC. He has won Eagle Scout honors and remains a rockhound.

Jim, 13, an eighth grader at Pine Grove, is another sportsman, partial to football, currently glued to the World Series, who tunes up a trumpet for musicianship while Steve, 16, a Miramonte varsity baseball and basketball player, is a serious student (in jazz) of the piano.

Last but not least, that lucky dog, the golden retriever, is "Henge" and we hope he doesn't get the idea this is his permanent place to plant bones.

Hats Off To...

Mae Schamel, League Women Voters Pres...

GILD A DOCUMENT of Thanks, please, to Mrs. Walter (Mae) Schamel, president of the Concord-Diablo Valley League of Women Voters, and her well-informed women who serve to enlighten the voting public.

A member of the local league for the past 2½ years. Mrs. Schamel was formerly president of the Glendale League and has been an active leaguer wherever she has lived over the years.

A native Missourian, tall and dignified, the Orinda matron has nothing but praise for the area group, "all happy, busy women with a purpose and a spirit that is highly contagious." She says, "Each one's enthusiasm rubs off on the other, making it a very alert and active group." . . .

As a member of the Speaker's Bureau for the local league, pre-election period is the most demanding time for the keen-minded lady who helps to promote good government by keeping the public informed on the ballot measures. Public or private groups and clubs may arrange, via her, for a speaker.

THE LEAGUE'S little gem, "Pros & Cons" pamphlet, is available from members and something you can STILL buy for a nickel, while the more "Comprehensive" booklet is well worth the forty cents before you go into the voting booth. Both can be obtained by a call to Mrs. Schamel or by contacting a League member.

Mae and her husband, Walter (of Berkeley Industrial Air Pollution Control), are parents of four. Two sons, Walter, 22, and Chris, 20, are in their fourth and second year respectively at the Missouri School of Mines, the engineering college where both parents won their degrees.

Chris' twin, Louise, lives and works in Oakland. Nine-year-old John, jubilant over his new cub scouting activities, is a student at Glorietta School, where his mother finds time to serve as a volunteer in the school library.

Since the League of Women Voters is also a staunch supporter of the Park Bonds, Mae also serves on the board of directors of the Contra Costa County Park and Recreation Council. The family home is at 82 Hillcrest Drive.

The Sociables

By MARIE MONAHAN

What's more sociable than a church festival, the good old-fashioned kind, where everybody goes home with a prize & a boy has a chance of winning a chocolate cake ALL to himself, or being more charitable, taking it home to Mom . . .?

THE SUN CAME out for a full weekend of Festival fun, Friday before last. Ominous skies changed the Teen Street Dance to an indoors one at Santa Maria's parish hall. The house was packed & the kids loved it!

LIKE OUT of Bill O'Malley's popular books, two little Nuns trying their skill at the hoop-ring . . . The booth manned all wknd. by Steve & Kay Tool, Kay sporting a bold-striped sundress w/shocking pink pumps she exchanged GLADLY for more comfy flats later day.

Father Cardelli's German shepherd knows well that pretty hand that feeds him (M.R.) & there was Flan licking up the trippings of melted icecream cups. "A doggone good dessert," woofed Flan. The Boston priest's parents were up for Sunday dinner from their home on the peninsula.

CHICKEN EVERY SUNDAY, read the apron worn by Susan Cambra, just one of the pretty teeners who lent a hand for the hundreds of dinners served . . . Nina Pera in the Snack Booth, sampling the pistachio icecream . . . & Gerry Damon busy at the coffee urn.

THE ANGELOS, all, serving up snowcones . . . & Jean Nikolai's newest Bruce gurgling happily & holding court under his stroller awning.

Over in the Kiddie Korral, Delia Casha, Mary Houston, more of the Mamas helping the moppets to their luck . . . The Hank Wrights & Bill Houstons taking a long table together for Sunday night dinner.

THE JERRY PIXLEYS having Luck of the Irish, w/panda bears, poodles, electric can openers, etc. . . . & the Paul Catti's neighbors carting home another big prize. Mike Shepphard, lucky young man, hitting the jackpot of almost $15.00 in the Nickel Pitch & two Dougs, Fastabend & Nelson, making the big decision after a win—WHICH cake to choose!

Bill Little & son Mike very much at home base in the Baseball Throw booth . . . ditto Pat Haley & his Pop . . . Ellen Harnett sporting sparrows on a blue gingham skirt & lots of sundresses & straw hats under the afternoon blaze of sun.

GENIAL JOHN Blaney generous w/help everywhere . . . Kay Reynolds commuting from cake booth to kitchen, & everywhere . . . Laurie Abbes rounding up her girls after dinner . . . Owen Owens (Richmond-Independent) greeting Bill Seeley, Trader Vic's mgr. of the Oakland spot . . . The Owenses heading PM to the United Press confab at the Fairmont.

AUSTIN KELLY, Lois Dugener, Billie Madden in the Sunday night crowd . . . Tiny Jane Calhoun behind a big tray of platters . . . Ethel Spittler, Evelyn Roberts dishing up desserts.

VERY "U" for In & Ultra describes Thelma Patterson's sumptuous salon "Segretto de Bellazo" which was previewed with a bit of effervescence last Friday night. Greeting Alysone & Ned deLaveaga, I backed myself right into the Finnish bath & it almost finished me. Socially, I mean.

The Swedish Masseuse, wearing a very official scandinavian pin, turned out to be a blonde Danske girl by name of Greta Andersen, & Very Gracious . . . The salon's dashing decorator, SF's Andrew Delfino, was getting decorated himself w/compliments, right down to his little square-toed & tasseled pumps . . . Ricky Seulberger & the hostess were chided about being Orinda's REAL Beautification Committee.

THELMA was a walking advertisement for her new swish salon, blooming w/orchids on black & gold brocade, an elegant gown w/a shoulder-to-floor flying panel . . . Dorrie DeMaeyer, Hazel Field, Lillian Ayres some of those peeking into the private rooms, each booth w/its own scalloped curtain in wide-striped mustard & white canvas, fringed, yet!

ELEGANT prints & gold accoutrements sparked the pristine white pretty-up palace w/white leather chairs ready & waiting under big crystal-clear glass-bubble hair driers. The Very Most for Madam!

The William Becketts joined forces with the Jack McLarens for another gatherings, as did the Richard Kendalls who duoed a party w/the Wayne Bentleys.

Here's how thicker lawns are made

In fall, grass plants have the remarkable ability to develop many additional offshoots, called "tillers". These tillers can help turn a sparse stand of grass into a nicely filled-out turf—if plants have the nutrition they need for proper growth. That's why a feeding of protein building TURF BUILDER can do more for your lawn at this time than at almost any other season. Sound like results worth half an hour? All it takes is a pleasant walk. An Honored Guest for College Inauguration

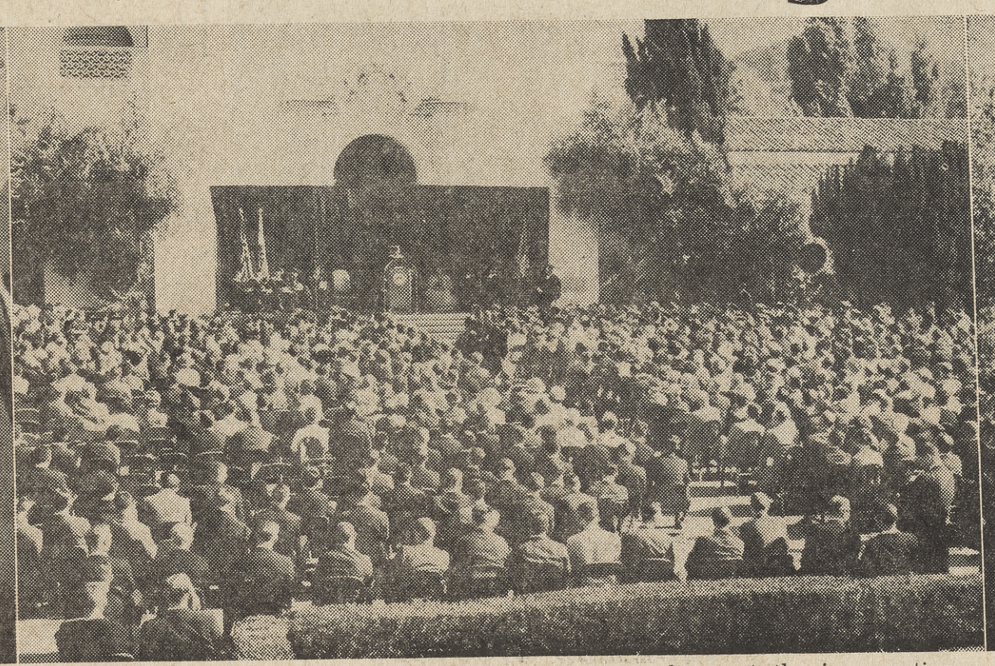
HONORARY DEGREE is conferred on Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, guest of honor at the inauguration of Brother Michael as president of St. Mary's College. Johnson gave a non-political address later which dealt with the current race in space. Sun photos by Bob Rush



A CROWD of approximately 1000 persons were in attendance at the inauguration ceremony last week at St. Mary's. There were 175 delegates from various colleges and universities throughout the United States on hand for the celebration, as well as the faculty, trustees and regents of St. Mary's. The ceremony took place on the Academic Quadrangle in front of the college chapel.

ADDRESSING the gathering at St. Mary's College last Thursday is Brother Timothy Michael, F.S.C., following his inauguration as the 22nd president of the Christian Brothers' institution. The formal ceremony was the first celebration in the college's centennial year.

'Commuters' Hit Transit

The 15-member board of directors of the Contra Costa Commuters Association has voted to oppose the Bay Area Rapid Transit bond issue, arguing that an estimated $1,863,000,000 total cost of the system is too high.

The board action was challenged, however, by board member Leroy Sowers, whose minority report at an association meeting Tuesday at Acalanes High School in Walnut Creek charged that some board members were using the group as a forum for "personal feelings without regard to the general welfare of the association."

The Sowers report also contended that the association has previously supported the transit district plan from its inception and that the board voted two years ago to help obtain a favorable vote on the bond issue.

THE ASSOCIATION represents "between 600 and 1000" of some 2700 commuters who regularly use Greyhound bus service between the central county area and Oakland and San Francisco, according to President Tom Whitten.

The directors also oppose the transit plan, Whitten said, because it would increase present commuter fares by 80 per cent.

At the Tuesday meeting, Henry Alexander, head of Citizens for Rapid Transit, countered that the district will provide special rates for commuters.

Whitten argued that proposed commuter rates have not been announced, and that the district could not reduce the rates they proposed in May, 1962, without increasing cost of the system.

"INDEFINITE" transfer points, "few stations," and the lack of provision for feeder bus service in the May BARTD report were other association objections to the plan, Whitten said.

The association's board also objected to an alleged 10 per cent increase in property taxes.

Alexander replied that failure to build rapid transit would cost more than estimated district tax costs, in construction costs of freeways and bridges and in land taken off tax rolls.

"All the other objections are merely quibbles," he said, claiming that the directors did not represent a majority of the commuters.

Hospital For Retarded Gets Support

A proposal for a 150-bed hospital and clinic for handicapped children in Contra Costa County has been endorsed by the county rehabilitation council.

The hospital, which might be located adjacent to the new John Muir Memorial Hospital in the Walnut Creek area, would serve children customarily called mentally retarded, neurologically handicapped and brain-damaged, as well as those suffering from epilepsy, cerebral palsy and other diseases.

Francis G. Burke, director of educational services in county public schools, told the rehabilitation council that the plan is being promoted by the Mental Health Association, the Health Department, the Council of Community Services and other agencies including the schools.

It is extremely difficult to find adequate care for the mentally retarded child in the central county area, according to Mrs. Eleanor Kunitz, spokesman for the council.

Endorsement of the proposed hospital is considered a step toward providing such care, Mrs. Kunitz said.

Richmond and Martinez have some facilities and programs for the retarded child, she explained.

"Many counties share this problem," she said, and pointed out that while Contra Costa is not lagging behind in such services, it is "certainly not in the vanguard."

The hospital would provide diagnostic and counselling services, as well as both in and outpatient care, but would not be a "home" or "school" for its patients, she said.

State planning envisions strategically located day care centers for the retarded child in the future, she added.

Transit Wins Support From Lafayette Assn.

The Rapid Transit bond proposal won more support this week when the Lafayette Improvement Association endorsed Proposition "A." The association represents 5000 homes in the Lafayette area, according to president Theron Nelson.

"Our community has been built on the money brought home by commuters," Nelson said. "Lafayette is primarily commuter oriented, and, in this sense, rapid transit is vital to us all as a positive solution to congestion," he explained.

Four main factors influenced the association's decision, the president said.

They were:

1. Lack of a practical alternative. "The highway department states that it cannot furnish enough freeways and bridges to handle interurban traffic projected for 1975."

2. Failure to build transit now will only increase costs when it is built in the future, as inevitably it must. A ten-year delay could cost $500 million in construction costs alone.

3. Rapid transit will increase property values so as to offset any property tax increase.

4. Contra Costa County and Lafayette will get more than their fair share of benefits from the system. "Our taxpayers will pay 26 per cent of the cost and get 31 per cent of the total route miles.

"Eighty per cent of the county's population will live within three miles of rapid transit facilities."

Approval Granted For Walnut Hills

Walnut Hills, a proposed subdivision consisting of 62 lots on 30 acres west of Reliez Valley Road in the Pleasant Hill area, was approved by the county planning commission Tuesday night.

Planners denied the application of Martin Jones and David Dolgin to establish a tennis and recreational club northwest of Quandt Road in the Lafayette area.

They also denied a rezoning request of Anthony Lagiss for a retail business zoning on Pleasant Hill Road near Stanley Boulevard, and a request for an animal hospital on Davis Road in Orinda.

Another Child Drowns In Contra Costa Canal

Three and a half year old Alan Lloyd Davis of 2940 Putnam Boulevard, Walnut Creek, became a statistic last Friday afternoon.

He became the 26th victim to drown in the Contra Costa Canal.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Davis wandered from the unfenced back yard of the home he and his parents moved into only three weeks before.

SIX HOURS later, sheriff's reserve skin divers pulled the body from the canal far downstream between Oak Park Boulevard and Boyd Road.

The little boy's mother said she let him out to play at about 1:20 that afternoon. A half hour later, she missed her son and called neighbors to help search for the child.

Traces of white sand on the west side of the canal, approximately 60 feet from the Davis back yard, indicated the child had gone into the water.

The sheriff's office and the canal patrol were called. Barriers were put down over culverts at various points along the otherwise open canal.

THE CANAL patrol dragged sections on both sides of the canal in the Putnam Boulevard area four times. The sheriff's office had dragged twice.

About 4:45, a reserve deputy sheriff of the department's SCUBA team, Ernie Rogers, arrived, donned his wet suit and searched the 100-foot long culvert under Putnam Boulevard. He reported nothing but "a few old tires and broken bottles." Visibility was poor because of previous dragging.

Later, Rogers was joined in the underwater search by another diver, Ed Pedro. The found the body of the child in three feet of water.

The boy is survived by his parents and a brother, William Scott Davis, and a sister, Tracy Dawn Davis. His father is a petty officer in the Navy.

Funeral services were held Monday at Oak Park Hills Chapel, Walnut Creek. Interment followed at Memory Gardens Cemetery, Concord.

Deputies Capture Burglars, Find $1600 Loot

A dramatic chase in an Alamo orchard led to the capture of a burglary suspect last week by sheriff's deputies and the recovery of $1600 merchandise from the Adeline Dress Shop in Alamo Plaza.

Sheriff's deputies Arch Nottingham and Ron Willis, patroling the Alamo Plaza area in the early hours Saturday morning, picked up the form of Willey Bartley, 27, of Pittsburg in the headlights as he dropped to the grass.

As officers turned on their spotlight, Bartley began to run. The deputies gave chase, and fired three shots in the air before the man stopped.

THE PITTSBURG carpenter, who said he only intended to burglarize a store but hadn't had a chance, later admitted breaking into Adeline's Dress Shop and removing about $1600 worth of clothing and costume jewelry before he was found.

One box of clothing was found near a tree and the rest was still in the store, taken off the hangers and apparently ready to be carted away.

In Orinda, Tuesday, Jack Violett, of 76 Southwood Drive, reported an assortment of liquors had been stolen from his home some time over the weekend.

Matadors vs. Highlanders --Keep Winning Streak!

By KAREN STAFFORD and JACKIE VILLATA

Tonight the Matadors will take on Piedmont Highlanders on their field . . . Let's keep up that winning streak—O.K. boys? After the game there will be a dance at Miramonte 'til midnight.

Last week was certainly the busiest and most frantic week many of have ever experienced—the finishing touch on the class floats; the painting of posters and decorating of goal posts; the sound of the Miramonte band out on the field—second period each day; getting ready for the Big day; the organization of our rooting section by the cheerleaders and, their making posters . . . ALL these things and many more made our Homecoming the tremendous success that it was.

Many thanks go to those who helped in any way, especially to Becky Horne, Miramonte's Social Secretary, who headed the entire Homecoming. We would also like to mention others involved directly with Homecoming: Sue Fernsten, dance committee, with Diana Moss on decorations, Claudia Powell on publicity, Byrnace Thrailkill on refreshments, Bonnie Palmer on bids, and Dean Hilger on cleanup?! Barb Reynolds, Mimi Loomis and Nancy Baker were in charge of the Court; Archie Meader was in charge of the parade; Mike Leahy headed news publicity and programs while Barb Hogle was in charge of school publicity.

Working hard on the goal post decorations and the banner was Carol Manson. The senior class float, which received the $25 prize, was headed by Sue Hickox. We hear that Richard Mowdy spent quite a long time setting up type for our game programs and our many thanks are expressed for your hard work. Last, but not least, we feel the Deans, Miss Giddings and Mr. Callan, deserve a great deal of praise for their great work in the Homecoming.

You probably wondered where those beautiful '63 cars came from which were in our parade . . . they were donated by dealers in Lafayette and Walnut Creek. The lovely red roses, compliments of King's Nursery, were given to Miramonte's Homecoming Queen, Barbie Brush.

Her court included freshman princess Candy Jacobs; sophomore princess, Donna Peake; junior princess, Chrissy Voll: and, the three senior princesses, Roxie Smith, Mimi Loomis and Karen Stafford.

The day was complete after our victory over Acalanes . . . 13-0 . . . the FIRST time in Miramonte's history that we have beat Acalanes in football; Congratulations team!

There was a big turn-out at the Homecoming Dance where everyone seemed to enjoy the music of the Bellhops. The crowning of the queen took place at 9:30, after the queen and court with thir escorts marched to the front of the gym and onto the stage to the twangy, nasal-toned sounds of the Bellhops singing that great 'ole favorite "Earth Angel." Last year's football queen, Sheri Romer, was there to crown Queen Barbie.

Now that the entire column has been taken up almost completely by Homecoming we'd like to add some minor gossip about the rest of last weekend (we almost forgot . . . there was a Saturday and Sunday!)

Saturday night Nancy Baker, Roxie Smith, and Nancy Brailsford, had a "delicious" spaghetti dinner made by Kay Williams and afterward the girls went to see "The Interns." Was it really your fourth time seeing it, Nancy?

Did you know that Miramonte has a TV celebrity roaming around? Wendy Minor appeared on the 11 p.m. news the other night—because she happened to be one of those at the dedication of the new wing of the Childrens' Hospital of the East Bay.

Also last weekend, Joanne Warner had a good time visiting Kitty Mika down at U.C.S.B. The girls never did make it to bed Friday night but spent the whole time talking! From what we hear Santa Barbara seems to be quite the school . . . for parties!

Some of the boys from Fort Ord came home on leave last weekend and sure enough one of them had a party, namely Keith St. Clair. Loads of kids were stopping in to say hellos and just having an all-around good time. Some of the many seen there were Cheri Romer, Pam Pearson, John Reilly, Joanne Boyson, Jimmy Taughinbaugh, Denny Lucas, Francis Steward, Darral Courtwright, Bill Schwark, Ellen Rasmussen, George Harlander, Lana Dressler and Paul Scholberg. Everyone seemed to enjoy "housewarming" Keith's new home way up on Donald Drive!

The Fox theater in Oakland was invaded by six senior boys last Saturday night . . . Doug Knudson, Larry Tower, Cris Combs, Scott Huntley, George Hauer and Mike Bartlett . . . It wasn't any Ordinary movie, it seems that those 3-D glasses were really something . . . George Hauer is sure getting a kick out of looking at all the girls through those glasses . . . could it be that they have some super vision, George?

Pat Campbell, Bonnie Brooks, JoAnn Boyson and Linda Hothkiss were all seen and positively "Heard" at the Rheem show last Friday night. After quietly(?) sitting through the Interns, the girls wandered over the bowling alley way for some exciting bowling games. 'Ole Pat Campbell came up with one of usual scores . . . this time it was 211!

Barb Bagley and Dave Hughes had quite a weekend . . . they both were Northern California representatives of Young Life. They spent the weekend at a Young Life convention at Mt. Hermon in Santa Cruz. They both met a lot of new friends and had a great time. Congrats.

Another party Saturday night was over at Steve Greathouse's. Some of the kids really having a ball were Steve and Joyce Thompson, Connie Pelaviaga and Dave Shaeffer, Ann White and Doug Dermit, Candy Bray and Buzz Glasky, Sue Leftwich and Steve Brush, Linda Rice and Ken White.

Viewing the Arts

Paint Brush or Drill?

By JANE PUTNAM

Hanging on one wall of Orinda Library this week are the paintings of Dr. Grover MacLeod, an Oakland dentist, who paints in his studio home. Dr. and Mrs. MacLeod reside at 50 Brookwood Road, Orinda.

Dr. MacLeod's most recent works are in the interesting medium of oils and molten wax. This is a modern concept of an ancient technique.

MacLEOD SAYS, "I would like to present the essence of beauty and form to intrigue viewers to find even more form and beauty in their concept."

This viewer, for one, found just that in the artist's impressions. Dr. MacLeod has his own style—somewhere in the middle of the road between surrealist and naturalist.

His love of the sea and marine scenes, a natural heritage, transcend the canvass. Three of Dr. MacLeod's uncles and his grandfather were sea captains. The latter once sailed with Jack London.

DURING THE past three years, MacLeod has exhibited extensively in the Bay Area. His paintings are found in the collections of Herb Caen, James Kilpatirck, the George Hansens, the A. R. Penneys, the R. T. Stranges, Crittenden and Podesta, and many others.

During the past three years, MacLeod has exhibited extensively in the Bay Area. His paintings are found in the collections of Herb Caen, James Kilpatrick, the George Hansens, the A. R. Penneys, the R. T. Stranges, Crittenden and Podesta, and many others.

MacLeod's paintings have hung in the Frances Young Gallery in Ross and at the Gallerie de Tours, San Francisco. Several paintings are in stock at the Edward Quill Gallery, San Francisco.

Quill acts as his agent. The Quill gallery plans a one-man show for MacLeod in November.

MacLEOD STUDIED sculpture at the University of California, Berkeley. He studied advanced oil painting at the California College of Arts and Crafts under Musselman, Bauman, Barieu and Jason Schoener. He studied marine painting with Joseph Bennent.

This month, in Orinda, Dr. MacLeod's paintings "brighten with beauty" the corner where they are.

Allen Promoted At Wells Fargo

Lewis M. Allen was promoted recently to assistant cashier at the Orinda office of Wells Fargo Bank.

Allen joined the staff in 1961. With the bank since 1949, he has also been assigned to branches in Berkeley, Martinez and Pittsburg and the installment loan division, San Francisco.

In 1956, he was given a two-year banking post on the Pacific island of Pago Pago in line with the long-established Wells Fargo custom of providing experienced officers to head the island's Bank of American Samoa.

Allen and his wife, Diana, have four children ranging in age from 6 to 1½ years. They reside in Concord.

SCOUTING

Boy Scouts, with nearly 18,000 members, and Girl Scouts, with some 10,000 girls, are the two largest United Crusade youth agencies in Contra Costa County.

It's News Here, Too

SAINTS & SINNERS NOTES: With the announcement of the ground-breaking last Sunday for Pleasant Hill's 15th church, comes the news of the application for a new liquor store (the fourth) for the city. So what? So it reminds us of the dour note in Rev. Nathan Bond's Valley Baptist Church Bulletin which reads: "U.S. Senator Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia reports on a survey to find out where public relief checks were being cashed.

"Of 84 per cent of the checks cashed last September, including checks for dependent children, aged persons and those disabled, 40 per cent of the total number were cashed in liquor stores!"

RAPID TRANSIT gets a solid plug in the Laf-Frantics' zany production of "Toss Lightly and Serve" at the Lafayette Town Hall. The woes of the Lafayette commuter are told in song in a skit which includes Theron Nelson, president of the Lafayette Improvement Association, a group who this week endorsed Rapid Transit, and Art Robson, local attorney who was pushing downtown incorporation for Lafayette a while back.

Only one who apparently didn't get a laugh out of the skit was the man who left the theater in a white car with a big poster on the trunk. It read: "Vote No on Proposition One . . . Don't squander a billion dollars!"

AND THAT AIN'T HAY . . . Fran Navone, who with her husband, Joe, owns the Orinda Garbage and Refuse Service, won $12,500 in a jackpot at Reno's Riverside Lodge recently. Pretty Keno!

HE WENT THAT AWAY . . . Hundreds of little hearts were broken (and some fiendish little hearts were gleeful) when Chuck Connors challenged local kids to a "shoot-out" . . . and lost! When TV's Lucas McCain, "The Rifleman," dared kids attending Broadway's birthday party to spell a four-letter word (watch it, the word was "wild") before he fired off five shots, the famous rifle jammed . . . probably causing him to think of other four-letter words like "nuts."

LONGEST RUNNING SHOW in the Bay Area is not something playing on Geary Street in San Francisco. It's the illustrated lecture on Russia's school system compiled by Supt. James Dent of the Mt. Diablo School District. The 77th performance was given Wednesday by the obliging superintendent to a social studies class at Pleasant Hill High.

The material for the well-illustrated and well-documented talk was obtained when Dr. Dent traveled with a group of administrators to Russia two years ago, says his secretary, Miss Kirk. He has obligingly shown his slides to service organizations, parent-teacher groups and clubs as well as students all over the area.

THERE MUST be another inroad to the proposed tennis club that Martin Jones and Dave Dolgin want to build on the William Barron-ial estate in Lafayette.

The planning commission turned down the proposed club, with its Olympic-sized pool (come back Donna deVarona) squash courts, steam rooms, etc., because of lack of an access road.

With about 200 people interested in membership, Attorney Dolgin says he'll appeal the decision.

POLITICAL POT-BOILERS . . . Diane Weidner, wife of Chuck Weidner, Demo congressional candidate from this area, was in quite a quandary at the PH Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday. Should she push the sale of tickets for the "testimonial" luncheon scheduled for today for her husband or not? No one knows if principal speaker Senator Hubert Humphrey could come due to the pressures in a Congress that was too busy to adjourn—and any other available Demo substitute of stature would be attending the funeral for the late Congressman George Miller over in Marin.

POSSIBLE INDICATION of the astuteness of the people behind the "Democrats for Nixon" is their choice of locations for their big, eye-catching banners:

Some zealot in the Lafayette area pasted the banners on "school crossing," "speed limit," and "no dumping" signs all over Burton Valley before deputies from the sheriff's office were informed.

VACCINATION

The first vaccination was made in New Mexico in the year 1805, reports the National Automobile Club.

Ask a United Crusader

Any questions you want to ask when the United Crusade volunteer—laden, as usual, with packets of folders, stickers and pledge cards—comes to your door for your annual contribution?

Questions like: "What do we—I and my family—receive?" . . . "Is the money spent carefully?"

"Is it true four out of five families are served by crusade agencies?" . . . "Tell me, who do YOU know personally who is being helped daily by crusade money?"

Ask away. In The Sun area of Central Contra Costa, it's a chance of better than four out of five that you'll be querying a neighbor who will be delighted to tell you a first-hand, personal story—an eye-witness or an "I" account of what crusade health, welfare and youth agencies are doing for you and for all Contra Costa residents every day.

THIS UNITED CRUSADE FEATURE SIGNALS THE START OF THE RESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

For, this year's United Crusade residential fund-raising, beginning today, is being carried on for a large part by the citizen-experts of community welfare, women associated year-round in crusade agencies.

IF YOUR volunteer money-raiser is a worker for Herrick Memorial Hospital, for example, as Mrs. Joseph R. Longacre, Jr., of Orinda, she'll tell you that some 185 Contra Costans were treated in the part-pay clinics at Herrick last year and that 144 were admitted as bed patients.

Or, if she's associated with Lincoln Child Center—such as Mrs. Gordon B. Hughes and Mrs. James D. Kaufman of Walnut Creek, Mrs. Lester Good of Orinda and Mrs. E. C. Whiting of Lafayette—the answer will include the fact that 53 emotionally disturbed youngsters from this county were given psychiatric treatment at the center.

Any questions about Children's Hospital of the East Bay?

Mrs. Gordon Ault of Orinda and others in the 16 hospital branches in Contra Costa can tell you that 1989 Contra Costa youngsters were treated on a part-pay basis at the fine children's medical center.

OR CHILDREN'S Home Society?

Mrs. T. P. Hedt of Orinda and other women in auxiliaries of the statewide adoption agency will explain that 235 Contra Costa parents were aided last year.

If you've wondered just how many youngsters are members of crusade youth organizations (the agencies situated within the county receiving the most money in direct allocation), every crusader can count off nearly 18,000 Boy Scouts, 10,000 Girl Scouts, of which 4420 are members of the local Diablo Valley Council, and 4331 Camp Fire Girls.

If you want first-hand stories of Scouting and Camp Fire, ask, for example, Mrs. J. Byron Warner of Moraga, who was an organizer of Girl Scouts in Greece; or Mrs. John D. Mink of Lafayette, finance chairman of Diablo Valley Council, or Mrs. F. R. Devin of Moraga, member of the Diablo Valley board.

BOY SCOUTS? Many den mothers, scout mothers and council members are making the residential rounds, including Mrs. Robert W. Dyer, chairman of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Frank C. Newman, chairman of North Orinda area.

Mrs. Arleigh Williams of Orinda is a long-time supporter, leader and board member in Camp Fire.

If your question is of Booth Memorial Hospital of the Salvation Army, answers could come from Mrs. Donald W. Walker of Lafayette and her Valley Mont Group auxiliary—that 21 unwed mothers and their babies from the county received care last year.

Mrs. R. C. Fehliman of Pleasant Hill is a year-round worker for Catholic Social Service, which gave counseling services to 1,938 troubled children and adults in its offices at Pleasant Hill and Richmond.

If your special interest is in community planning of health, welfare and youth services, ask a volunteer from the county wide planning agency, Council of Community Services, such as Mrs. John G. Kelley of Walnut Creek.

Among other citizen-experts making the Crusade in Central Contra Costa this year are women affiliated with Mt. Diablo Chapter of American Red Cross, Contra Costa Mental Health Association, Mt. Diablo YMCA, Volunteer Bureau of Central Contra Costa and Central Contra Costa Cerebral Palsy Society.

"Ask away!" County Women's Chairman Mrs. Frank E. Young urges.

"With its record of service and efficiency, United Crusade is appealing to contrbiutors to seek information.

Every one of our neighborhood solicitors has the details of services given by every Crusade agency."

The winds and waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators.—Edward Gibbon.

Supreme Court Action in County Building Suit?

There is a definite possibility that the taxpayer's suit against Contra Costa County's right to put up an administration building without voter consent will go to the State Supreme Court.

Harlow P. Rothert, attorney for plaintiff Anthony G. Lagiss, a Lafayette resident, made the statement last week to The Sun.

Last Monday Judge Homer W. Patterson sustained a demurrer by the county district attorney's office. It was the second time a county demurrer in the case had been sustained.

As in the first instance, Patterson allowed time for Lagiss to amend his complaint. This time, he gave the plaintiff 10 days.

LAGISS IS claiming that it is unconstitutional for the county to finance the building through the lease-purchase arrangement with the county retirement board.

He charged "subterfuge" by the county. Defeat of a bond measure for a new administration building in 1958 indicates the county taxpayers' feelings on the matter, Lagiss has stated.

The complaint also stated that the county would incur indebtedness beyond its income for the fiscal year without first getting voter approval — which violates the state constitution.

Rothert said yesterday that he didn't think the complaint would be amended for a second time.

Although a final decision has yet to be made, Rothert indicated he would ask Patterson for an extension of time before ruling on the suit.

A SIMILAR suit against Alameda County is presently in the District Court of Appeals and a decision is due October 15, Rothert said.

A delay would allow Rothert and Patterson to hear the decision.

The Alameda suit charges the same thing in regard to the combined county administration building and welfare building projects which are being financed by the same lease-purchase arrangement.

Rothert said if the court rules for Alameda County, he will appeal to the Supreme Court. He said he was sure Alameda would do the same if they lost.

If the court's decision is against the suit, Rothert said he would ask that the Contra Costa suit be lumped together with the Alameda suit in the Supreme Court.

Usual appeal procedure would have the Contra Costa suit go to the District Court of Appeals.

LAGISS STATED yesterday that he was "confident he was on the right track" in this suit.

He said the supervisors were disregarding the wish of the taxpayers who put them in office as their representatives.

He claimed the present board of supervisors was not endowed with "the wisdom" of the previous board who had placed the matter on the ballot in the form of a bond.

Let us remember that revolutions do not always establish freedom.—Millard Fillmore.

We Haven't Lost, Yet

We are pleased to note that that failure of the proposed county bond issue for the purchase of park sites does NOT mean that that area of San Pablo Reservoir, Briones Hills and Redwood Canyon are lost to us, and that East Bay Municipal Utility District directors will NOT sell their "surplus" lands to a private developer for "a reasonable period of time."

We are also happy to learn that serious discussion has begun concerning "alternate methods of establishing an acquisition and development program" for the EBMUD land concerned in the recent bond issue proposal.

County Park Director Duane Mattison has commented that EBMUD directors agree that their "surplus" lands in the vital three areas SHOULD be used for park and recreation purposes, and there are no immediate plans by EBMUD for disposing of the lands in any other fashion.

WHAT METHOD WILL be demed the most practical in the long run for acquiring the 1250 acres in San Pablo, the additional 500 in Briones Hills and 900 in Redwood Canyon?

Meetings of the County Parks and Recreation Commission EBMUD officials and county park men should determine if lease, lease-purchase, outright purchase or something else is the most practical solution in terms of voter acceptability and long run savings.

Park Director Mattison will come up with his plan for submission to the Commission and the utility company perhaps by December.

The concept of outright purchase of the lands appeals to many persons (The Sun recommended in favor of the June bond issue. But, cannot many advantages of a purchase be contained in a lease-purchase agreement?

APPARENTLY EBMUD directors are not adverse to the idea of a lease arrangement, as long as its terms seem reasonable from a business standpoint.

We hope that whatever is proposed the next time, a lot of hard-headed, face-to-face discussions will have preceded it, and more than one alternative will have been explored carefully.

Whatever is worked out, the terms of the agreement must recognize that if the county places recreational facilities on EBMUD land it has an investment which must be protected, and the people should be guaranteed they will get full use of these facilities for a period of years.

Reservoir—A Solution?

Is the publicly-owned East Bay Municipal Utility District's desire to stay out of the "recreation business" consistent with the facts that the public would benefit from an EBMUD-operated Lafayette Reservoir, and a precedent for such action has already been set by EBMUD?

The Sun feels that operation of the Lafayette Reservoir by EBMUD would benefit not only the people of our area, but also indirectly the people living in the Alameda County portions of EBMUD, since fewer of our own people would flock into Alameda County for recreational outlets.

EBMUD directors, who are required by state law to study possible recreational uses of a reservoir, upon supervisorial request, have an out—submission of the question to all the voters of the district.

AND IT APPEARS this is being strongly considered by the directors, although a vote was not taken before Pardee Dam was converted for recreational use, under EBMUD operation.

EBMUD men say that Pardee Dam's conversion for recreation was an experiment, and that experiment failed, since it's operation they say is a losing proposition, and as such affects district taxpayers.

EBMUD directors do not want to go into the recreation business, as they term it. But it is still a fact that close to their large territories acquired years ago have grown new communities with a growing and urgent need for recreational lands, with their residents living within EBMUD boundaries and paying its taxes.

EBMUD has also gained new customers by the growth of those communities, but the EBMUD watershed lands have accordingly gained in value.

MIGHT SOME of this profit through increased land values, the result of the influx of new peoples, be returned to the people in the form of recreational facilities conducted by EBMUD?

EBMUD has gone this far—it will make the land available for recreational use, if some other group or organization will provide the facilities and operate them.

Although the Pardee Dam area is larger than Lafayette Reservoir, recreational facilities at Lafayette would cost as much to operate as those at Pardee, said EBMUD men.

Although EBMUD is not at this moment interested in extending its recreational role, the company has already expanded its basic water service to other services, such as providing a sewer system for Oakland and Berkeley. This makes EBMUD more than strictly a water company.

THE FACT REMAINS—EBMUD IS a public agency, and it happens to be THE public agency in the East Bay which has ownership of extensive lands which are invaluable and irreplaceable as sites for park and recreation facilities.

The fact also remains that EBMUD directors CAN decide to make the lands available and operate the facilities on them without voter approval. They have a precedent for this—a bad precedent they feel, but one which is certainly a happy one for residents of the Pardee Dam area.

There is a plan for the development of the Lafayette Reservoir (also Chabot Reservoir) for recreation. Its implementation requires that the problems above be settled by the agencies involved.

Dreaming?...

It's good commuter news that the State Highway Commission next Friday will get a recommendation that funds be provided for extension of six and eight lane travel from the Caldecott Tunnel west to Warren Boulevard.

If approved the $3 million job would be in the 1962-63 budget, and would follow nicely the widening of the highway from the tunnel east to Orinda, and the addition of another bore to the tunnel itself.

Commuters rarely have time for day-dreams, but how nice it would be if somehow the whole ball-of-wax could be completed at one time, all the way to Broadway in Oakland, where the Grove-Shafter Freeway will be built.

Well, we can dream, can't we?

BALDWIN
Dear Editor:

All through my reading of your paper's endorsement of John Baldwin, I kept remembering that cliche "Poor John, he means well."

Were you endorsing John Baldwin or condemning him?

I quote: "John may not grab the floor in Congress or read statements into the Congressional Record on foreign affairs. He is certainly not one of the leaders or great debaters on national and international problems. Nor will he ever be."

Then, if he isn't all these things, why is he in Congress at all? "John Baldwin votes," you say. So do I.

And in your last argument, you stress his seniority. Civil Service has been in a bind over this one for years. How to get rid of the deadheads.

I think we should argue the merits of electing men to office under the democratic system as opposed to retaining them in office by virtue of seniority.

I, for one, have found it all too easy to fall into the "vote for the incumbent" trap.

We continually need, in this fast-moving age, the influx of new blood, new ideas, and above all, new, vigorous leadership.

HELEN SCHARMER

RAPID TRANSIT
Dear Editor,

Congratulations for your editorial on Rapid Transit.

I cannot imagine a clearer, more intelligently put presentation of why Contra Costa must support this measure in November.

You have managed to get right at the heart of the matter, thrusting aside the petty short-sighted viewpoints that have been so sedulously forced to your attention by the scattered but articulate opposition.

You deserve congratulations for keeping your own objectivity in the midst of the furore. You have basically stated the fundamental fact of the campaign.

Contra Costa wants and needs Rapid Transit. It wants it in time for it to do the maximum good. It wants it at the lowest possible cost.

These are the three considerations that Proposition A satisfies.

McCUNN
Dear Editor:

There apparently exists a small minority who persist in upholding the lost cause of Dr. Drummond McCunn.

I have sufficient reason to believe that the vast majority of citizens of our community were greatly impressed by the reasoned judgment which released Dr. McCunn from a situation which threatened the professional morale of our junior college, its faculty, and our students.

Surely, one factor which was most conclusive was the teaching profession which was united in their opposition to administrative practices which could not be upheld as beneficial to the education of our youth.

There is an area in our state, to the south, where those individuals impressed by Dr. McCunn's views are finding far greater acceptance.

It's Fall & Everything's Coming Up ★$! Gophers

By MARIE MONAHAN

THIS is the time of year when I nose to the nursery like a setter to his bird.

A few days after the first rain, the magnet of Fall pulls me into the local plant parlor & hands me, in a hynotic state, a homogenized assortment of flora & fertilizer . . . & a bill to boot. For twenty bucks.

I do not know why I even bother.

MY PROBLEM in the garden is gophers.

Now whether there are TWO gophers or two HUNDRED gophers, I couldn't really tell you. But there are signs these gophers are a very industrious lot.

The Nursery lady sold me some new poisonous tabs. A toxic little treat, she said, guaranteed to do away with our rapscallion rodent friends forever.

SO, putting primroses aside, I spent the gray afternoon in the manner of some secretive scientist, preparing for the funereal feast, like so—

You draw on rubber gloves being CAREFUL not to touch the pills which are kind of orangey and resemble king-size aspirin.

Then with a tweezer you lay the pills out taking pains not to pick one up by mistake or it will lay YOU out. Stone cold in the garden.

I mean, if you mistook it for an M&M or something.

BY the time you've slit side pockets into the carrots in which you hide the pills, pushing them in wtih a tweezer, you have drawn blood, cut yourself, ruined a good pair of garden gloves, spilled the pills & fallen over backwards.

It is quite a procedure & if you're nervous like me, you continue very cautiously. Then—

WITH a dozen carrots in hand, I tried to locate the runways.

I shoveled & spaded. But the tunnels had disappeared.

All I dug up were last year's prize bulbs. Which had to be replanted.

By the time I replanted them & buried the carrots ANY PLACE, I had forgot which mounds of freshly-turned earth were WHICH.

But the gophers at the bottom of my garden are very helpful.

Also very smart.

They turned up personally to prove it.

THIS underground character came right up out of nowhere, like Alice out of her rabbit hole, & just as coyly, cocked a head, cased me up & down with cold eye & stood motionless except for his busy paws on the golden spear.

I stod there STARING . . . Absolutely appalled at his bravery. Not entirely without conscience, I waited for my first murder. Crunch(crunch, crunch . . .

Do you know what that gopher DID? He picked the pill right out of the carrot & practically handed it back to me . . .

Oh, yes . . . I've tried those windmill things. But this brilliant fellow, or members of his family, uprooted those, too, thinking they were jet-age geraniums, I guess.

SO IT'S bottoms up & back in the bulb bed for me, to uncover the buried carrots with the poison pills.

I don't trust those critters. They're likely to leave them out on top of the ground where they'll con the cat or dog into taking them.

MAYBE even ME!

Nothing's Too Much If It's for Kids

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

Parenthood sometimes forces extraordinary responsibilities upon mothers and fathers. The way they measure up to face them is often quite remarkable.

Take my friend Lorraine Marchi. Her first son was born with a visual handicap which classified him as "legally blind." Not totally, but with just enough vision to make him able to distinguish large shapes and outlines.

Because Lorraine was determined that he be given a chance to use the little vision he had, she began to print by hand—and later by a press in her basement, copies of his schoolbooks in print large enough for him to see.

SHE BECAME interested in other children who might have the same difficulties. Why shouldn't they have use of her son's books? Why shouldn't their mothers help her in printing more and more copies? Why shouldn't the little organization they subsequently formed make their books available to the schools, locally, and later throughout the state?

And when one of Lorraine's friends moved to New York, why shouldn't she carry aid to the visually handicapped there? And another friend whose husband was transferred to Chicago, why not form a chapter there?

Little by little, from the time her son started school eleven years ago until now, he is a senior in high school, the organization grew. Now it is a full-fledged national organization known as National Aid to the Visually Handicapped recognized by schools throughout the county as performing a vital service never before rendered.

Then there's Jack Jackson. His was a much happier task that parenthood forced upon him. Jack moved to Lafayette from Los Angeles recently. His son is an expert competitive swimmer. When the boy entered Del Valle School last year and wanted to join the team he found there was none.

JACK ALSO found that the effort to obtain a pool for the new school was floundering because, although plenty of parents as well as students wanted a pool, there was no one to take the leadership.

So, while Mrs. Jackson chauffeurs the youth over to Acalanes High after school each day to work out, Jack is busy at night organizing fund drives, planning rummage sales, parades, rallies and doing the thousand and one jobs necessary to get that pool by spring.

Sometimes what we do, because of our children, doesn't always result in such widespread benefits. Sometimes the satisfaction we get is only self-satisfaction. Sometimes we get no thanks at all.

Like last Friday night. After slaving away for four weeks of my first month as Den mother, planning activities for eight fiercely energetic little boys, I attended the pack meeting decked out in full uniform, a smug smile on my face.

I LISTENED politely while the "Keepers of the Buckskin" of the others dens read the prepared reports of what their groups had done in September. I was confident that when our turn came, the ad-libbed uncensored remarks of our den chief would reflect nothing but glory on Den One.

Ha! The smile faded as I listened to this little cynic "expose" me. The hike we took was a failure because we didn't find any fossils. We had a business meeting, but we didn't do anything. We put together a scrapbook about our community but we didn't do any crafts.

By the time this cub's eye-view of our activities was over, I expected the cubmaster to snap off my buttons and drum me out of the corps.

It is fortunate that the extraordinary responsibilities of parenthood are given to extraordinary parents!

UNITED NATIONS
Dear Editor:

We spend 50 billions of dollars a year on the military and military hardware, and yet Congressman Baldwin can't see his way clear to vote for the 100 million dollar bond issue for the United Nations!

We blow up that much a week sometimes, in missiles and testing new weapons!

But anyway, John has helped get us roads and freeways in his district.

Do You Know the Names, Numbers of the Players?

By ELEANOR SILVERMAN

Espionage agents from foreign countries spend years studying American slang, geography—but particularly, the names and standings of the athletic heroes.

If I were ever under the gun in a foreign country, I'd have a hard time proving my Americanism, because I simply don't know the names and numbers of all the players.

At the risk of being labeled the only subversive Associate Publisher in the County, the time for a complete and documented confession is at hand.

It all started nine years ago at the Big Game in Cal Stadium. Shortly after the fanfare subsided, the gals with their outlandish hats and colorful suits settled down, the rooters tore their cards to shreds and filled the air with confetti snow, and the band put its instruments under the benches—I sat back to watch the game.

Football is fun!

"This is really fun. The score is 13 to 6, it's first down and nine yards to go, Cal is on the 37 yard line, and there are only 14 minutes left to play in the third quarter."

"It's a beautiful day, and there are only eight minutes left in the third quarter.

"I'll fix roast beef for dinner, and there are only minutes left to play in the third quarter.

"At last, we're in the fourth quarter. Can't take much longer now."

"Only 10 minutes to go!

"Why do they take so many time outs? Well, we are on the last five minute stretch.

"There goes the gun, and the goal posts."

It suddenly occurred to me that I had been an "ardent" football fan for years, but my enthusiasm was centered on the scoreboard and that slow moving, stop-and-starting time clock.

Most fortunately, my kids had by then grown into enthusiastic sports fans and my tickets thenceforth went to some real-live rooters.

Any other non-rooters?

If there are any other people who are bored by sports events, they certainly have a way of keeping quiet about it.

You have never heard anyone say "I don't like football, I am not a baseball fan."

The only evidence on the anti-sports fan side comes from an unusual book "Summerhill," a radical approach to child rearing, by A. S. Neil. The author ran a progressive school in England called Summerhill. The title blurb reads "Sommerhill, a radical approach to child rearing." After reading the book, you'll wonder if it is the teachers who rear the children or the children who rear the teachers.

A quote from "Summerhill"

But to quote the book: "It is intriguing, yet most difficult, to assess the damage done children who have not been allowed to play as much as they wanted to. I often wonder if the great masses who watch professional football are trying to live out their arrested proxy, as it were. The majority of our Summerhill graduates does not attend football matches, nor is it interested in pageantry . . . Among old Summerhillians, the only ones who can easily and enthusiastically cheer in a crowd are the ones who came from the homes of parents with Communist leanings.

The foregoing is an unpaid quote and does not represent the opinions of the writer of this column.

Do we have any silent, suppressed, subversive readers who feel this way about spectator sports? Please let me know who you are. It will make me feel better.

Letters to The Editor

BALDWIN
Dear Editor,

The UN bond issue, one of the most important issues to come before Congress this year, managed to pass Congress just a week or so ago, almost unnoticed by the press.

This county was disgraced by the fact that its congressman steadfastly maintained his opposition to the UN bonds, and finally voted against the bill.

From his two newsletters on the subject his reasoning appears to be primarily that the loan of $100 million to the UN when many countries (including the USSR) have not paid their Congo assessments, would amount to a gift to these countries.

This is a startingly short-sighted view of one of the most important steps toward an effective United Nations. Using this reasoning we might ask Mr. Baldwin whether, since putting criminals in prison means providing them with free room and board, why don't we simply let them go and save the taxpayers' money?

Mr. Baldwin has obviously missed the point entirely. The point is, what are we getting for this loan?

The answer is that we are getting the first faltering steps of a UN police force, which, in spite of strenuous opposition from the communist bloc and a lack of whole-hearted cooperation from the West, has so far managed to maintain a unified Congo and prevent the communists from obtaining a foothold.

SCHOOL BOARD
Dear Editor:

May we appeal to the parents of the community through your publication?

Our School Board of the Walnut Creek School District holds its meetings on a rotating basis in the various schools of the community. This affords the parents the golden opportunity of seeing the board in operation.

The warm welcome to parents and visitors and the democratic procedure at the school board meetings are encouraging to see.

As you may know, it is the policy of the teachers at intermediate school level to send home green slips prior to report card periods indicating praise deserved for above average work by the student.

The parents in this vast community could render a similar positive approach to our school board by attending the meetings and voicing their opinions.

This would support and reward the efforts of these capable and dedicated men and women who serve our community without financial gain.

Too often only the complaints are brought to the attention of the public servant.

A phone call to the (Walnut Creek Elementary) School District Office will render information as to the time and place of the next meeting. Why not see for yourselves?

Parents and their progeny who are unable to stretch their budgets to purchase stretch pants may have the chance to do so. Those who want to sell old snow gear will be given a golden opportunity.

Anyone may bring skis, poles, clothing, boots, chains, car racks, anything for sale for skiing, to the Veterans Hall on October 20.

There will be a small registration fee. Anyone wishing to buy may do so from the exchange items or from local sports store merchants, who will also display.

Ski films will be shown. Refreshments will also be available.

Sustainer's Tea Calls 'Country' Jr. Leaguers

By MARIE MONAHAN

Country-side members of the Oakland Junior League joined their town sisters recently to attend the Sustainer's Tea held in the traditional setting of the stately home of Mrs. Frederick Muhs, 30 Roble Road, Berkeley.

A handsome epergne centering the tea table in the dining room spilled forth pale pink Cecile Brunner roses and frothy fuchsia blooms.

Pouring tea and coffee, and assisting as hostesses, were past presidents of the league. Mrs. Harmon (Joan) Howard of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Charles E. (Mary Alice) Townsend Jr., of Orinda, each took a turn at the silver service.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Robert (Barbara) Edgren, Mrs. Jack (Marion) Eyman, and Mrs. Edward (Jane) Pike, all of Lafayette as well as Mrs. Bruce (Jeanette) Howard of Orinda.

The lavish fresh orchid leis worn by the sustaining members and the provisionals were the thoughtful gesture of Mrs. Chauncey Pond Jr., of Lafayette, who just recently returned from an Islands' sojourn.

The fluffy white flower collars identified sustaining members Mrs. R. Robert (Helen) Brattain of Lafayette and Mrs. Frank A. (Barbara) Dunn of Orinda who are serving this year as advisors on Junior League committees.

Yellow orchid leis served to label the provisional ranks, those Leaguers who completed the training course in June and will become active leaguers during the month of December. From Contra Costa area were provisionals Mrs. Walter M. (Katherine) O'Brien, Mrs. John H. (Virginia) Risborough, both of Orinda and from Lafayette, the Mesdames Gus (Bev) Chavalas, Burton L. (Joan) Grant, Lloyd (Jeanne) McCormick, James (Sally) Smiley, Thomas (Sue) Senstrom, Edward (Tia) Garvey (a transfer from the San Francisco league) and Mrs. William A. (Abigail) Wheeler.

Also among the honored provisionals were Mrs. Paul J. (Joanne) Cortese of Walnut Creek and transfer, Mrs. Donald T. (Susan) Marshall of Concord.

Heidi Soiree Is Set

Castlewood Country Club will be the locale of Heidi Chapter's fourteenth annual fashion show and luncheon, "Arden Artistry," Wednesday at noon.

Eight hundred guests are expected at Heidi's largest fundraising event. All proceeds go to the Children's Home Society, a member of United Crusade.

This year's show, by Elizabeth Arden, will emphasize the "Regal Look" and an afternoon of elegance is promised to the guests.

The following local matrons have accepted Heidi's invitation to model: from Orinda and Lafayette, Mmes. Gretchen Gleim, Robert H. Goodale, and Jack Dana; from Walnut Creek, Mmes. James Robinson and David Graff; and from Danville, Mmes. Ridgeway Woodburn, C. Wadsworth White, A. Keyes George, Lloyd Bradhoff and E. Walton Kirk.

Andrea Vaccaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vaccaro, Danville, will portray this year's little Heidi.

Each year for the last thirteen, a little girl has been invited to lead the parade of models and be the theme girl for the party. Last year Andrea's sister, Valarie, played this part. Two other Heidis from several years past, now in their 'teens, will assist the models on and off the runway: Vickie Frank and Jan Hicks of Lafayette.

Mrs. Robert H. Lockey of Lafayette is general chairman of the function.

Her chairmen are Mmes. Frank E. Rossi, benefit drawing; Ted J. Clark and Charles J. Morrill, decorations; Charles E. Grant, models; Robert B. Mossman, procurement; R. P. Cornelison, programs; James P. Newcomb, publicity; Douglas Aiken, reservations; Earl S. Prescia, seating, and Mervyn E. Wall and Earl Gudnason, surprise gifts.

Reservations for the fashion show may be made by telephoning Walnut Creek, 934-4721 or Orinda, 254-2434.

Knights Stay Alive, 14-7

By ROGER JERNIGAN

The Las Lomas Knights are idle with a bye tonight after scoring a significant 14-7 victory over the invading Piedmont Highlanders last Friday evening in a Foothill League game.

The Knights came back to break a tie in the fourth quarter and defeat the highly-rated Piedmont squad to stay on the running for the title they won last year. It was the first league game for Piedmont.

Playing its best game of the season, the Las Lomas offensive unit displayed a very effective ground game. Quarterback Mike McGinnis completed three out of five passes for key yardage in the Knights' attack.

Las Lomas first hit pay dirt with 3:09 remaining in the second period.

The Knights took advantage of a hurried punt by Highlander Jay Knowland which rose almost directly upward and took a backward roll on the turf.

WHEN THE BALL was finally spotted, the Knights had a first down on the Highlanders' 33-yard line. John Allen scampered for 23 yards in two carries down to the Scot 10.

Seconds later McGinnis passed to Gary Ford in the end zone for the tally. Jim Roessler added the first of two successful PATs and Las Lomas led 7-0 at the halfway mark.

Resuming the action in the third period, both teams found it increasingly difficult to pose any sort of threat. Tough line play by both clubs nullified offensive action.

Standouts for the Knights were Rick Laven and Dan Fagundes, while Doc Wood, 220-pound center for the Highlanders, made a great individual effort in leading the forward wall.

Piedmont marched early in the final period from their own 18 yard line in 15 plays to even the score with 8:12 remaining in the game.

THE ACCURATE passing of quarterback Steve Lawyer figured prominently in the drive to paydirt. Lawyer hit halfback Tom Williamson, Piedmont's outstanding ground gainer thoroughout the contest, for 11 yards and a key first down which kept the drive alive.

It was Williamson who finally scored from the six-yard line on a great individual effort which carried him into the end zone fender on the one. Lawyer ripped off left tackle for the extra point and the game was deadlocked at 7-7.

Las Lomas bounced back as McGinnis took the Scot kickoff on his own 17 and followed beautiful blocking up to the Knight 34. Las Lomas went on to overcome a determined Piedmont defense and dwindling time factor, marching the 66 yards in seven plays.

McGinnis, himself, picked up key yardage by running very well on the roll out option. Brian Nissen picked up 12 yards for a big first down.

Devastating blocks by Bill Staley and John Allen sprung fullback Bob Kreider for 17 yards to highlight the winning drive.

ALLEN SCAMPERED the final 12 yards, breaking through right guard for the deciding TD. Roessler converted and the Knights sewed it up, leading 14-7 with only 3:00 left to play.

It was an important and impressive win for the Knights who have been rebuilding to achieve last year's title form. An inexperienced backfield is rounding into shape and finding big holes opened by a veteran line.

The Knight backfield piled up 222 yards rushing to Piedmont's 153 and held a 280 to 208 edge in net yards gained. The victory put Las Lomas in third place in the Foothill League standings with a 1-0-1 record behind undefeated Miramonte and San Ramon (both 2-0).

San Ramon Rolls Over Del Valle For Second Win

By DAVE ANDERSON

Del Valle High will again be fighting to capture that first win in Foothill League competition when they tangle with the Alhambra Bulldogs tonight on the Las Lomas High gridiron.

The Trojans, after winning 10 straight games, came out on the short end of a squeaker with Miramonte, 14-13, and then were blanked by the San Ramon Wolves 19-0 last Friday.

San Ramon beat Alhambra 33-6 in the league opener, but the Bulldogs have had two weeks to work on their mistakes.

THE TROJANS will be out to improve upon their last week's effort, when they were shut out for the first time in varsity competition.

The San Ramon Wolves and Del Valle battled it out on even terms in the first half before the Trojans finally bowed to a strong running attack. Early in the second half, after they gained possession of the ball on a punt, San Ramon marched 41 yards in seven running plays, with speedy halfback Lincoln Arthur plunging in from two yards out.

Then the Trojans roared back for what seemed a sure scoring drive as field general Bob Kovats took to the air and hit Bill O'Toole on the run for a 30 yard pass and run play. On the next play, Kovats found right end Max Christianson on the sidelines for a 24 yard gain.

By now, Del Valle had driven to the Wolves' six yard line. But on the next play from scrimmage the pigskin was jarred loose from a Trojan runner and John Evans of San Ramon found himself a football.

From then on, Del Valle was unable to mount any serious scoring threats.

But San Ramon struck again as Chuck Ferreria engineered the Wolves to a 61-yard scoring drive with Arthur bursting right up the middle for a 37 yard scoring sprint.

With the score 13-0, it seemed as if the game was settled, but Kovats desperately ran on a fourth down lay to keep Del Valle moving.

HE MADE only half the needed yardage, and San Ramon gained possession of the ball on the Trojan 38.

With time running out, the Wolves, led by Arthur, punched across another touchdown with the gun already sounding the end of the game.

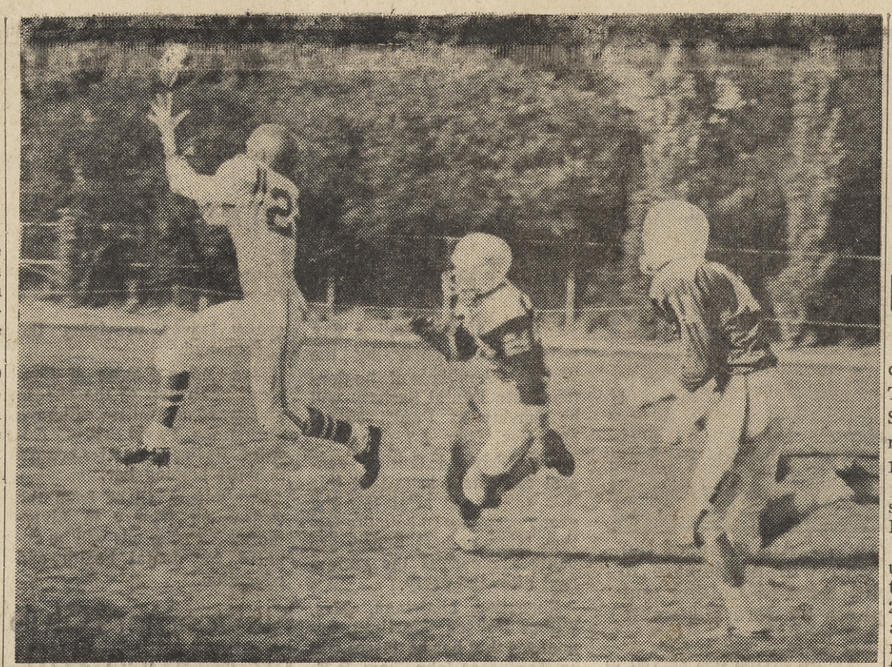
There was no doubt about the running of Arthur being a vital factor in the Wolves' triumph. He rambled for 155 yards out of a San Ramon total of 215. His ability to stay on his feet and drag tacklers with him allowed him to pick up valuable extra yardage for first downs.

Rebels-Sacto

Sunday's East Bay Pop Warner Football League game between the Pleasant Hill Rebels and Sacramento will be broadcast over K-WUN (1480) starting at 1:30 p.m.

Rams-Pacifica

Tonight's Contra Costa Division game between Pacifica and Pleasant Hill will be broadcast over radio station K-KIS starting at 8 p.m.



LEAPING HIGH to grab a pass is Acalanes halfback Steve Kosach (24) as Norris Widener (24) and Pete Boyle (11) of Miramonte move in on the play. Kosach picked up 30 yards on the play, but the Matadors won the game, 13-0, for their fourth straight win and third shutout of the season.

Pacifica Tests PH Tonight-- CP at Antioch

Still smarting from their 25-0 defeat at the hands of the Antioch Panthers last week, the Pleasant Hill Rams will be looking for their first Contra Costa Division (DVAL) victory as they tangle with the undefeated Pacifica Spartans at Pleasant Hill.

Meanwhile, the College Park Falcons will travel to Antioch to try their hand at upsetting the potent Panthers.

Coach Hal Briggs of the Rams reports "We expect a real tough game with the Spartans tonight. The Pacifica team is undefeated and they tied Pittsburg, even with Al Lea, Pitt's big gun in the lineup. They've got some good boys up front. In Andy Revera, their quarterback, they have one of the best in the league."

Dennis Hannon injured in the Antioch contest, is a doubtful starter for tonight. Kip Dunning, Ram tackle, who has done outstanding work thus far this year, will hed the Ram line.

ALTHOUGH shut out against Mt. Diablo last week, the College Park attack has shown steady improvement. Brian Hunt has developed into a first rate passer, to compliment the running game of Tim Ryhan, fullback and Dick Larscheid, halfback.

However, the task of running against the big fast Antioch line appears more than formidable.

The Panthers are just as tough to stop on offense. Their attack isn't fancy, but the big line does a fine job giving the speedy backfield room to run.

T-Birds and Pitt Battle In Pop Warner Showdown

With a situation almost identical to last year, the LaMarinda Thunderbirds invade Pittsburg Sunday for a crucial Pop Warner football game Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Both teams are 3-0 on the season. Pittsburg is defending East Bay League champion.

Last year, with both teams undefeated, Pittsburg blasted the Thunderbirds' title hopes, 21-0, at Orinda. Pitt went on to an undefeated season. LaMarinda lost one more game and finished third.

Last Sunday at Orinda, the Thunderbirds polished off winless Concord, 27-0. as fullback Bob Voortmeyer scored two touchdowns.

After a scoreless first period, Voortmeyer blasted off right tackle from two yards out to put the Thunderbirds ahead following a sustained drive. The point after touchdown was picked up by Voortmeyer on a dive over center.

In the third quarter, halfback Kevin Smith sprinted 13 yards up the middle for the Thunderbirds' second score following at the end of a double reverse. The run for the PAT was halted.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Thunderbirds put the game out of Concord's reach as Voortmeyer smashed into the end zone from the five yard line following another drive.

Following the kickoff, Bob Glynn, defensive halfback, picked off a deflected Concord pass and raced 50 yards for the fourth and final score of the afternoon.

Mats, San Ramon Seek To Extend Win Streak

Mats, Wolves Both Are Favored to Win Tonight

Tied for the league lead with San Ramon, Miramonte has a tough job ahead this evening if it hopes to keep its winning streak going.

The Matadors travel to Piedmont to battle the Scots and it's a "do or die" game for the Highlanders who were upset by Las Lomas last week.

San Ramon goes for win No. 3 this evening at Acalanes and is an overwhelming choice to defeat the stubborn Dons who gave Miramonte a real run last Friday.

THE SUN'S staff of football "experts" sees Miramonte and San Ramon both winning as the FAL season reaches the halfway mark.

Miramonte is a split choice. 3-2, while San Ramon gets the nod of all five members. Piedmont, winner of two non-league games against impressive foes, slipped last week and must win this one—so the staff thinks it will be close.

The staff feels that Acalanes just cannot muster enough of an offense to give the Wolves a battle.

In the other FAL games, Del Valle, reeling from two straight losses, is the overwhelming choice to dump Alhambra for its first-ever FAL win.

In the Contra Costa Division, Pleasant Hill is the pick of four of the staff to win its first CCD game after a horrible start last week.

Antioch, conqueror of the high-flying Rams last week, is the choice of all staff members to easily handle College Park.

In the college and pro ranks, the staff picks DVC, Cal and Oakland to lose while Stanford and the 49ers are favored.

SPORTS EDITOR George Colburn, a last minute loser on his Detroit-Green Bay "wild card" choice last week, fearlessly picks the St. Louis Cardinals to end the winning ways of his favorite team, the Washington Redskins, 24-17.

So far this season, Colburn has a 1-3 record for his "wild card" selections.

THE CONSENSUS (23-12-5) for this week's top games:

San Ramon over Acalanes (5-0)—The Wolves won't stumble here.

Miramonte over Piedmont (3-2)—The Scots "must" win tonight.

Del Valle over Alhambra (5-0)—Trojans collect first FAL win ever.

Antioch over College Park (5-0) — Falcons don't have the offense.

Pleasant Hill over Pacifica (4-1) — With Hec Hancock disagreeing.

Foothill over DVC (4-1)—New conference, old foe for Vikings.

Stanford over Washington State (4-1)——Result of this one will prove a lot.

Duke over Cal (3-2) — There are some who still have faith in the Bears.

Denver over Raiders (5-0) — Last year, Oakland could beat the Broncs.

49ers over Bears (5-0) — Many doubters have had their faith restored.

COLBURN (25-14-5)—San Ramon over Acalanes, 26-0; Miramonte over Piedmont, 7-0; Del Valle over Alhambra, 34-6; Antioch over College Park, 33-6; Pleasant Hill over Pacifica, 19-7; Foothill over DVC, 35-13; Stanford over Washington State, 17-15; Duke over Cal, 21-14; Denver over Raiders, 35-21; 49ers over Bears, 31-17.

ANDERSON (26-9-5)—San Ramon over Acalanes, 20-13; Piedmont over Miramonte, 14-13; Del Valle over Alhambra, 20-6; Antioch over College Park, 14-0; Pleasant Hill over Pacifica, 7-6; DVC over Foothill, 21-16; Stanford over Washington State, 21-21; Cal over Duke, 8-7; Denver over Raiders, 34-7; 49ers over Bears, 21-14.

SMITH (25-10-5)—San Ramon over Acalanes, 20-7; Miramonte over Piedmont, 14-7; Del Valle over Alhambra, 20-0; Antioch over College Park, 28-6; Pleasant Hill over Pacifica, 14-7; DVC over Foothill, 21-7; Cal over Duke, 24-21; Stanford over Wash. State, 14-7; Denver over Raiders, 24-14; 49ers over Bears, 28-21.

JERNIGAN (23-12-5)—San Ramon over Acalanes, 21-14; Miramonte over Piedmont, 20-13; Del Valle over Alhambra, 14-13; Antioch over College Park, 20-14; Pleasant Hill over Pacifica, 20-14; Duke Foothill over DVC, 28-8; Washington State over Stanford, 23-16; Duke over Cal, 21-17; Denver over Raiders, 35-16; 49ers over Bears, 31-28.

HANCOCK (21-14-5)—San Ramon over Acalanes, 20-7; Piedmont over Miramonte, 14-7; Del Valle over Alhambra, 20-6; Antioch over College Park, 25-6; Pacifica over Pleasant Hill, 13-7; Foothill over DVC, 35-7; Stanford over Wash. Granberg Hurls Highland to 2nd WC Softball Title

Behind almost perfect pitching by Darryl Granberg, Highland Liquors captured its second straight title in the Walnut Creek Adult Softball League this week.

Highland shut out Red Stove, 6-0, 4-0, to win the best two of three game championship playoffs.

Granberg opened the finals with a no-hitter, striking out seven Monday night at City Park in Walnut Creek. He came back the next night with a one-hitter, striking out 14.

After 11 innings of no-hit pitching, Granbert gave up a looping, wrong-field single to catcher Alan Wells in the fifth inning of Tuesday night's game.

HIGHLAND finished the regular season with a 10-0 record, handing second place Red Stove its only loss.

Highland edged third place Danville, 4-1, last Thursday night to gain the finals.

Red Stove blasted fourth-place Norm Robinson, 17-3, in the one-game knockout semi-finals to set up the championship playoff between the top two teams in the 11-team loop.

Tom Underwood pitched all three playoff games for Red Stove. He gave up only three hits in the 6-0 loss and just four more the next night.

A scoreless tie after four innings in the first game was broken when a fly ball with two out and the bases loaded was dropped by the right fielder.

Four runs scored on the error.

Mats Win, Rams Lose . . .

STRETCHING for that extra yard or two is Miramonte fullback Dean Hilger in last Friday's game against Acalanes at Orinda. Hilger apparently stumbled over his own man (on ground) as Allen Bartolozzi (30) and Pat Little move in on the play.

SURROUNDED, as he was all night, is quarterback Nelson Shelton of Pleasant Hill. Shelton, the Rams' big offensive threat, was bottled up all night as was halfback Dave Clark, as Antioch romped to a 25-0 win. Sun photo by Bob Rush

Miramonte Notches 3rd Shutout, 4th Win, 13-0

By BILL SMITH

Miramonte (2-0), tied for first place in the Foothill League, travels to Piedmont (0-7) tonight to take on the Scots.

The Matadors played their traditional rival, Acalanes, last week on their own field, but the story was different than in recent years—Miramonte beat the Dons for the first time in their history of varsity football, 13-0.

The Mats also stretched their undefeated record to four games. It was the third shutout for the Mats.

Miramonte wasted no time in displaying its ground-gaining power as they took the ball on the opening kick-off and proceeded to grind out and 53-yard drive into Don territory.

Starting on their own 36, Bob Williams picked up 19 yards and Dean Hilger piled up 31 yards, including a 20-yard run, before the Mats gave up the ball on downs on the Dons' three-yard line.

The Mats, soon after, pushed to the Dons' 27-yard line, where they were again stopped.

IT WAS LATE in the second quarter when Miramonte put together their second long drive, which resulted in the first score of the game. Acalanes had been forced to punt after suffering two penalties and a 10-yard loss.

Taking possession on their own 38, the Mats moved quickly with Hilger taking the ball to the 44, and Williams breaking through the middle for a gallop to the Dons' 42.

Eight plays later, the Mats were on the 19-yard line with 48 seconds left in the half.

Quarterback Rod Robinson missed Kent Miller in the end zone on a pass attempt, then gave the ball to Hilger, who crashed through to the 13-yard line.

At this point, Miramonte came up with a trick play that was the turning point of the game.

With a fourth down on the 13-yard line, the Matadors had three yards to go for a first down, and 34 seconds left in the half.

Jim Lewis, who had twice provided the margin of victory with his kicking, was called in for the field goal attempt.

Everything was set for Robinson to hold and Lewis to kick from the 20-yard line. Instead, Robinson took the hike and flipped a screen pass to Hilger, who made it to the one-yard line.

On the next play, Hilger bucked over the line for the score. Fullback Allen Bartolozzi broke through the line to block Lewis' PAT attempt and it was 6-0 at the half.

LATE IN THE third quarter, Miramonte again invaded Acalanes territory as the Dons were once again forced to punt. Williams swept around right end for a 40-yard run to the Acalanes 20-yard line.

The Mats lost the ball five plays later, but soon recovered it as Pete Boyle intercepted a Tom Alexander aerial on the 30-yard line. Norris Widener took the ball around right end to the 11, then Williams broke through to the six-yard line.

Hilger galloped into the end zone from six yards out, only to have the play called back on an illegal procedure penalty. On the next play, Hilger ran it from the 10 to within inches of the goal, as the third quarter ended.

After the changing of directions, Hilger dove into the end zone for the second time, but once again the score was nullified by a penalty. Finally, Williams ran it in for the score from five yards out. Lewis' extra point made it 13-0.

CCD Roundup...

Antioch Thumps Pleasant Hill, 25-0; Mt. Diablo Routs College Park, 19-0

By HEC HANCOCK

After having experienced the havoc wrought by Typhoon Antioch, the Pleasant Hill Rams prepare this evening to take on the undefeated Pacifica Spartans in an effort to get back into the Contra Costa Division - DVAL title chase.

The College Park Falcons steam rollered by the Mt. Diablo Red Devils, 19-0, last Friday, will bravely try their hand at trying to derail the Antioch title express.

In the other CCD game, defending champion, Pittsburg, was tied by Pacifica, 7-7.

In the head-on clash between the two giants of the CCD, Antioch and Pleasant Hill last week, the big fast Panther line completely dominated play as Antioch rolled to a 25-0 triumph over the previously undefeated, unscored on Pleasant Hill Rams.

THE VETERAN Panther forward wall, outweighing the lighter Rams by over 20 pounds to the man, enabled the Panthers to put four scoring drives together.

In addition to providing the Panthers with ball control, they completely contained the awesome Ram "one-two" punch of Nelson Shelton and Dave Clark.

Antioch got on the scoreboard in the first quarter when Ron Edwards capped a 31-yard march with a five yard thrust into the end zone. It was at this point that the first and only Panther weakness was revealed. They missed the first of the three PATs they were destined to goof during the evening.

During the second quarter, the Panthers traversed 60 yards to paydirt, using 13 plays to accomplish the journey. This time Ron Morelli did the honors, clambering over the Ram defenders from a foot out for the six-pointer. This time the PAT was good, making the score 13-0 at half time.

ANY HOPES the Rams might have harbored regarding a second half rally were dispelled by the Panthers when they marched from the Ram 45-yard line for their third score. Bill Lynds skirted his left end for the touchdown. Again Antioch missed the PAT.

Edwards, with guard Mike Pirrozzili leading the way, scampered 35 yards to TD land, to round out the scoring for the evening.

Mt. Diablo declared themselves in on the CCD title bidding as they overwhelmed the College Park Falcons 19-0.

However, while dominating play for most of the first half, the Red Devils had to halt a Falcon drive at the 15-yard line just before the intermission to protect their lead at that point of 6-0.

That drive, featuring the passing of Brian Hunt, and the alternate slants of Tim Ryhan and Dick Larscheid, was the only serious scoring threat mounted by the Falcons.

MT. DIABLO garnered their first tally in the second quarter when Dennis Jones plunged into the end zone from four yards out. The score had been set up by a 50-yard run back of a punt by Mike Schomaker to the College Park 20 yard marker.

In the third quarter, the Red Devils moved into a commanding lead when John McKinley, a 141-pound tiger at fullback for Mt. Diablo traveled the final 11 yards of a 45-yard march.

Foothill Race Reaches Halfway Mark Tonight

By HEC HANCOCK

The plot continues to thicken in the Foothill Athletic League as the race reaches the half-way mark this weekend.

Currently. San Ramon and Miramonte have a slight lead on defending champion Las Lomas, but developments this weekend could well make the title chase a four-team affair.

San Ramon, seeking its third consecutive win, travels to Lafayette to vie with the improving Acalanes Dons.

Miramonte crosses over the hills to do battle with the Piedmont Highlanders. Del Valle and Alhambra will meet tonight on the Las Lomas field to round out the action as Las Lomas has a bye.

As the San Ramon Wolfpack goes into the tilt with the Dons, spearheading their attack is Lincoln Arthur, the most explosive climax runner seen in the FAL in recent years. Arthur brings a record of 10 touchdowns scored in the four games played to date. With fine speed and excellent movement, he has been able to score from anywhere on the field.

HOWEVER, THE Dons would do well not to key completely on Arthur in their defensive plans for the Wolfpack. With Chuck quarterback, Rick Aboud at the other halfback spot and Mike Skinner at fullback, San Ramon presents a well balanced offense.

Led by all-league tackle Chuck Husted, the forward line has done a creditable job thus far this season. Assisted by Bob Crutcher, Mike Fay and Rich Lucas, the San Ramon defenders reached the high-water mark of the season last week as they shut out the explosive Del Valle Trojans.

Acalanes continues to show fine improvement, and has definite ideas of an upset nature regarding the Wolfpack. The Don offense, under the direction of Tom Alexander at quarterback, has begun to pack a great deal more wallop. While they were shut out last week by the Miramonte Matadors, a costly fumble into the end zone "robbed" them of a six-pointer. This would have been only the third touchdown allowed by the Mats this season.

Dick Holden, Dick Van Loben Sels, Mark Mahler, Dave Perry are beginning to open up running lanes for Mike Hallock, Bob Brabant and Jon Van Loben Sels to advance through.

Miramonte, the FAL co-leader, is expecting to have all they can handle as they take on Piedmont this evening at Piedmont.

Coach George Galli of the Matadors is looking for a real tough battle from an aroused Piedmont club, which was upset last week in its initial league appearance at the hands of Las Lomas.

DEAN HILGER is hampered by slight knee injury, but is expected to start the contest. Hilger, together with Bob Williams and Norris Weidner, carry the brunt of the Mat running game, which is the basis of the Matador offense.

The Miramonte line which has performed so well this season is manned by such as Clint DeWitt, Kent Miller, Butch Workman, Bruce Nickerson and Bob Miller. They have done a tremendous job of containing enemy thrusts. Jim Lewis, an excellent place kicker who has won two games this season with his toe, could easily be the deciding factor in a close contest.

The Highlanders, under the tutelage of Coach Bob Muenter, are looking for the first league win, in hopes of getting back into the FAL race. Against Las Lomas last week, they appeared to have lost the momentum that had carried them to an upset win over Hayward two weeks previously.

Steve Lawyer at quarterback continues to improve with each outing. His passing is adequate, and Lawyer showed himself to be a threat on the option play. Tommy Williamson, halfback, has the swift to go all the way anytime he carries the ball. In addition, Williamson doubles as a fine receiver. Doc Wood anchors the Highlander front wall on both offense and defense.

THE DEL VALLE Trojans, playing their first season in the FAL, are hoping to rack up their first FAL win this evening against the Alhambra Bulldogs.

Hampered last week by the loss of line stalwarts Tom Roberts and Dick Goggin, the Trojans are hopeful of getting their offense in high gear. Taking up the slack are Mike Valcke, Pete Jason and Scott Smith.

The Trojan offense is anxious to get going again after being shut out at the hands of San Ramon. Bill O'Toole, Mal Cameron, Cliff Schroeder, with Bob Kovats at the reins, presents a tremendous offensive potential.

Alhambra drew a bye last week, after having dropped their league opener to San Ramon, 33-6. The Bulldogs, while a young team, are greatly improved over last year and played two non-league tie games.

DVC Seeks First Win Tomorrow

Diablo Valley College will be seeking its first victory of the season tomorrow when they play host to the Foothill Owls at 8 p.m. on the Pleasant Hill High School football field.

Last Saturday afternoon the Vikings were over-powered by the highly-ranked San Mateo Bulldogs, 42-0. This was the opener for both clubs in the new Golden Gate Conference.

Led by junior college all-American candidate Rick Norman at quarterback, San Mateo began to control the ball game from the opening gun. But even though the Vikings were down 22-0 at half time, they were nearly even with the Bulldogs in the statistics.

DIABLO VALLEY made just one serious bid to score in the first half. This drive began on their own 30 and behind the running of Jim Ricioli and Bob Guadagni moved the ball to the San Mateo four.

Here the Viks fumbled and the Bulldogs recovered.

Overall the Vikings gained 141 yards to San Mateo's 340. The big margin was in the passing department where San Mateo gained 169 yards to 21 for DVC.

Rehabilitation Council Discusses Co. Projects

The County Rehabilitation Council held the first in a series of meetings on rehabilitation services in Contra Costa County Wednesday at the County Hospital.

New projects were discussed on the program which is designed as a continuing rehabilitation forum, according to Fredrick C. Kracke, of Walnut Creek, council president.

Gertrude Hall, of the Council of Community Services, and Gladys Keyes, nursing director of the county health department, discussed plans and progress towards a Contra Costa Visiting Nurse and Homemaker Service.

Francis G. Burke, of the superintendent of schools office and Estelle Girande, executive director of the county's Mental Health Association, gave a joint report on the proposal for a Children's Institute and Resident Training Center.

This center would serve children with evidence of retardation or deviation in development or progress.

900 Students at Acalanes Summer School Sessions

The 1962 summer school program of Acalanes Union High School District, career exploration opportunities held during the summer for district students, and a progress report on boys' physical education curriculum were subjects of staff reports to the Acalanes District trustees last week.

William Teutschel, principal of the district's summer program, related aspects of the session which ran from mid-June through July. More than 900 students participated in the summer curriculum which was staffed by 41 teachers, Teutschel said.

He reported that the number of students taking elective or enrichment study opportunities was mounting, indicating that more pupils are showing an interest in educational opportunity in addition to those who attended the program for course makeup reasons.

Career exploration was described by the program coordinator Dave Sweetman, Las Lomas counselor. Forty-seven students spent six weeks working in occupations in which they had expressed a vocational interest, Sweetman said.

Occupations included employment (at no pay) in hospitals, teaching, pharmacy, law, medical research, hotel and cafeteria management, electronics, and jobs as legal secretaries, foresters, commercial artists, and sales people.

Chairmen of physical education departments presented a progress report to district trustees on a general program to upgrade the boys' physical education curriculum.

The coaches, George DeKlots of Las Lomas, Don Phillips of Miramonte, Doug Pederson of Del Valle, Niels Waidtlow of Campolindo, and Charles Eaton of Acalanes High School dedetailed the impact of a physical fitness test and individual fitness programs being developed at each of the high schools.

DeKlotz pointed out that the fitness testing program given last year and this year indicates that high school students attending the Acalanes District's schools are scoring well above the national average for students who have taken similar tests throughout the nation.

The teachers emphasized that they were interested in "brain as well as brawn," and that physical education in local high schools was designed to stimulate leadership, citizenship, a sense of cooperation and maturity, responsibility and many other positive personal attitudes.

In other action this week, high school trustees:

Approved expenditure of an estimated $4320 to bring the Acalanes High School campus electrical power provision in line with plant requirements.

Approved employment of one and one-half additional teachers to meet enrollment growth since school opened (the district's enrollment is near 5200 as opposed to an earlier estimate of 5135).

Sanctioned application of Ray Hanson, Las Lomas science teacher, for a possible Fulbright exchange with a qualified science instructor from Sweden.

Chinese Acts Coming to SF Theater

When the Foo Hsing Children's Theater from Taiwan (The Republic of Free China) brings its fascinating evening of Chinese folk tales, acrobatics, dance and music to the Masonic Auditorium October 24 through 28, San Francisco will see one of the theater's oldest arts, the ancient traditional face-painting of the Chinese Theater, more than 2000 years old.

This unique form of art is of prime importance in Chinese drama, since nearly all the performers appear on stage with painted faces.

The actors pride themselves on this skill, and sometimes take as long as four hours to makeup.

In so doing, they must not deviate from tradition in any manner. The choice of color, each dot, every line has a specific meaning, and any performer who strays from this tradition is frowned upon by his colleagues.

St. Mary's Planning Concerts

Six concerts, ranging from a guitar soloist to a chamber orchestra, highlight the 1962-63 subscription series at Saint Mary's College.

The schedule of performances, sponsored by the Contra Costa Committee for Lectures, Art and Music, features concerts from November to May.

Series tickets, priced at $7 general admission and $5 for students, will go on sale in October.

All concerts in the series will take place on Friday evenings at 8:30 p.m. in Oliver Hall on the Saint Mary's campus.

OPENING THE series November 2 is guitarist Jack Buckingham. A faculty member at the University of California in Berkeley, Buckingham has appeared frequently with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. His Saint Mary's appearance will include both classical and flamenco selections.

Appearing December 7 is a leading chamber ensemble, the Griller Quartet.

Now in its 32nd year, the quartet includes Sidney Griller and Colin Hampton, two original members, plus Jacob Krachmalnik and Harry Rumpler, newly-added violinists. The ensemble is the string quartet in residence at the University of California.

Following Christmas and semester recesses in January, the concert series resumes February 22 with a recital by the Wallrisch Duo. Considered the finest viola-piano duo on the European continent, Ernst and Lory Wallfisch will be on their first tour of the West Coast.

Another outstanding chamber group, the Alma Trio, will perform March 8.

THE TRIO — Maurice Wilk, violin, Gabor Rejto, cello, and Adolph Baller, piano, will include sonatas for violin and piano, and cello and piano together with the traditional trio material. Organized in 1944 at the Alma estate of Yehudi Menuhin, the trio has received acclaim in New Zealand and Canada as well as the United States.

Coming April 5 is the Ramat-Gan Chamber Orchestra of Israel. Part of the International Cultural Exchange program, the orchestra is making its first tour of the North American Continent. Conductor Sergiu Commissiona and the 12 musicians will perform selected Israeli compositions along with classical and modern works.

Concluding the series May 3 is a recital featuring San Franciscan Donald Pippin and a woodwind ensemble.

Besides the six events in the subscription series, Saint Mary's College will continue to offer free concerts, lectures, and art exhibits during the Centennial Year.

PANEL OF PORTRAIT PHOTOS IS STYLISH WALL DECOR

PACK A PECK of originality into your decorating with a panel of photos of the family. Decorators say professional photos are the latest trend in "personalized" decor. They recommend framing and hanging them in different shapes and sizes, in both black and white and color. The panel above takes about 15 minutes to make from a sheet of hardboard. Use a staple gun or tacks to cover it with fabric, perhaps left over from drapes or slip-covers. Staple on a decorative trim to form a "frame." Move them around over the panel to get a pleasing arrangement.

Attics & Basements Are Very Adaptable

If you are like the average homeowner who has lived in the same house for a number of years, you may well be faced with the growing space needs of an expanding family.

Rather than give up your present home and moving to a larger house, possibly in a different neighborhood, why not consider creating additional living space in the home you now occupy?

Almost every home has unused space that could be converted into livable extra rooms.

IN MANY instances, such space can be found in an unused attic, a section of the basement, a porch, an attached garage or carport.

Or perhaps you could add on to the back or side of your house by knocking out a wall and expanding one of the existing rooms, or adding an entirely new room.

Often the least expensive way to get an extra room is to finish off the attic.

Roof and subflooring are already there. The "expansion attic" house, the Cape Cod or many of the other high-gabled types usually can be "stretched" simply by finishing floors and adding walls, heat, light and insulation.

OLD OR NEW, a house with a basement has built-in room for improvement, presenting practical possibilities for conversion into a recreation room, hobby room, family room, any or which may provide extra guests sleeping quarters.

Finishing this space for better appearance and greater function can be done with a modest expenditure for materials, such as hardboard or one of the western pine region woods.

It isn't necessary to start in the attic or basement in order to end up with a remodeled room.

REMODELED PATIOS and porches, particularly where adjacent to the kitchen, make wonderful family style dining-living rooms.

Another practical way to create extra living space is to build a carport or extra garage for the car, and convert an attached garage into the extra room you need.

Sliding storm and screen picture windows can be installed where the garage door once hung and side-wall broken through for smalled windows.

If you can't go up, down or sideways to find space for conversion into extra rooms, consider adding the necessary living facilities by building onto your house.

YOU WILL NEED expert help for at least part of this job. First, have your land surveyed to locate exact property lines.

Next check with your building inspector to find out how far out you can go and still stay within bounds set by the zoning code.

Basic to any remodeling project is careful planning and the advice of experts when and where expert advice is called for.

Even if you plan a do-it-yourself remodeling project, you might well decide to have part of the work done by a building contractor.

'Remodel' Your Garden

Gardens are no different than homes in one respect.

As they age, they often need remodeling. But where a person is quick to paint and paper a rundown house, he will often live with a rundown garden for years and years.

Often the reluctance to remodel a garden stems from some notion that shrubs and trees are not to be uprooted while there's still life in their limbs.

FOR THOSE who hesitate to remove existing shrubs and plants, the California Association of Nurserymen urges: "Don't hesitate."

Why not start right at the front, where your property meets the street? Chances are you have a parking strip of sorts, and chances are good that it could use some attention.

The parking strip should be so planted that arriving guests have the chance to get out of their cars without stepping into a tangle of plant life. Stepping stones or a brick landing area thus become a necessity. After this is provided, look to the planting.

TWO OF the best covers for such areas are the low growing junipers (many are available) and Aaron's Beard. Junipers are desirable for their handsome foliage, while Aaron's Beard will appeal to those who like flowers.

Trees often enter the parkway picture. Where regulations permit you to plant your own, choose from such handsome specimens as the flowering cherries or the olive, which makes up for any lack of flowers with its year-round good looks.

The lawn comes next in our approach to the house, and nothing is more apt to add or detract more from the general appearance of things. Ask your local CAN nurseryman about doctoring or replanting yours.

THE FOUNDATION planting is more often in need of re-doing than any other area in the garden. Foundation plants are often overgrown, lacking grace and failing entirely to fulfill their primary purpose which is to tie a house to its surroundings. Here the gardener must uproot and start anew.

In the foundation, strive for simplicity, with a few low growing ones of moderate size, such as heavenly bamboo or Japanese pieris and a few taller, more columnar shrubs such as twisted juniper to lend accent.

The India hawthorns have a definite place in the foundation, and in shaded areas so do azaleas and camellias. Choose rhododendrons with care, however, for many of them will outgrow their bounds in a few short years.

IN THE rear yard, remodeling often includes a certain amount of architectural construction to make things conform with the modern idea of easy access to the garden and space for outdoor living. The gardener might well seek professional help here in drawing up a plan. From there he can proceed on his own.

In facelifting a backyard, the lawn is once again the prime concern. Then flower beds and borders should be analyzed from the standpoint of easy access and maintenance. Placement of trees should also be considered. Also, don't overlook the possibility of removing a misplaced veteran. Shrubs that have been giving a mediocre performance are better removed as are those that don't conform to their surroundings.

Remember that no plants are sacred when it comes to remodeling the garden.

Enrollment Up At Junior Colleges

Enrollment in the two colleges of the Contra Costa Junior College District now stands at 11,345, a gain of better than 10 per cent over the fall of 1961, it was reported by George R. Gordon, governing board president.

Last year's figure was 10,181.

GARDEN CHECK-LIST

PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. Uproot faded annuals and replace them with new plants for winter bloom. Calendulas, violas, fairy primroses, cyclamen are four to try.
2. Early blooming Sasanqua camellias will start blooming this month. Select them from plants in bloom so that you can see the exact colors and flower types.
3. Tuberous begonias that are still in bloom should be fed with liquid fish. As these summer bulbs go out of bloom, replace them with cyclamen.
4. Try planting spring-blooming bulbs in pots. Daffodils, hyacinths, tulips are all attractively grown this way.
5. Be sure chrysanthemums are staked to prevent their toppling from the weight of their bloom.

Check This List: It Can Save Your Life

The average American home is thought to be a pretty "safe" place, yet recent studies by the National Safety Council show that some 5500 people die annually from home fire and burns, while approximately four million more are injured in the home.

Doesn't this suggest the wisdom of making a "safety survey" of your home? Here is a check-list of important safety features to look into:

1. Bathroom safety locks. These allow the door to be opened from the ouside if a child has locked itself in or if adults have suddenly been stricken with dizzy or fainting spells.
2. ELECTRI-CENTERS which eliminate blown fuses and minimize fire hazards, by automatically cutting off a circuit's power and pinpointing the danger area, whenever a defective appliance is plugged in.
3. Grounded outlets to eliminate electric shock. New appliances, using a three-pronged plug, require such outlets, usually not found in older homes.
4. Hand-rails on all stairs, to help curb deadly falls.
5. Light switches both at the head and bottom of stairs, so that staircases can be well-lighted ahead of you.
6. WELL - CONSTRUCTED masonry chimneys with vitrified tile linings to prevent erosion by fumes and to prevent bricks from falling down and blocking chimneys off.
7. Lighted medicine cabinets, so that danger warnings on labels can be read easily.
8. Floors that wipe up easily, like vinyl or asbestos tile, to keep floors clear of spilled grease and soapy water, responsible for thousands of broken limbs each year.
9. Storage room to prevent clutter. Large utility rooms and broom closets, so that mops and pails are not left on stairs. Stairway clutter, including littered toys, are responsible for countless deaths annually.
10. Lights in all bedroom closets. An often-neglected safety feature, these lights prevent groping in the dark.

Tips to Ease Floor Chore!

Keeping your floors spic, span and sparkling can be much easier than you think.

Once or twice a week vacuum, dry-mop or sweep your floors to keep dirt from grinding in.

Wipe up spills immediately to prevent tracking or possible stains.

Dried-on spots or heel marks should be gently buffed with a moist steel wool soap pad and polished with absorbent Kleenex paper towels.

Damp mop regularly with cool water before the floor is badly soiled.

This won't disturb the wax and will make scrubbing unnecessary for weeks.

Spring Beauty from Bulbs

If we want the beauty of bulbs next spring, we must plant them this fall.

For many gardeners, the planting of spring-blooming bulbs begins and ends with the King Alfred daffodil. This giant, yellow-trumpeted beauty has everything the gardener could ask and no surer sign of spring's arrival can be found. Still and all, you miss much in the way of garden pleasure when you defer to the "king" alone in planting spring bulbs.

Let's see what members of the California Association of Nurserymen have to offer in the way of bulb-planting suggestions.

THE NURSERYMEN suggest starting off the season extra early with a planting of paper whites and jonquils, which members of the narcissus family push up heads of bloom as early as January in some California gardens, and almost always by mid-February.

These can be followed by freesias, with their heavenly fragrance, grape hyacinths with their small grapelike clusters of blue and Dutch iris, whose long-stemmed beauty comes in yellow, blue, white, or combination thereof.

While these are all in bloom, the first hyacinths push their perfumed heads into view. These are favorites with gardeners and CAN nurserymen recommend using them liberally. Mass them around the base of a tree, clump them in groups beneath deciduous trees and shrubs, or line them up in a row beside a path.

Next come the daffodils.

AS MENTIONED earlier, these are dominated by the giant yellow King Alfred variety. Avoid the mistake of overlooking the other fine daffodils, however, for a more varied family would be hard to find. Look for such outstanding varieties as the giant white Beersheba or Mrs. R. O. Backhouse, with its lovely pink trumpet against petals of white. Then there are such eye-catching beauties as Francesca Drake, with reflexed white petals and a bright orange cup, or Thalia with its delicate cluster of small white blooms atop a single stem.

The daffodils are durable bulbs, happy to be left alone for several years without lifting and replanting. Clump them in groups of one kind, or naturalize them by scattering handfuls of mixed varieties under deciduous fruit trees and other spring-flowering trees. The combination of flowers overhead and bulbs at ground level is an arresting sight.

LAST TO come into bloom are the tulips, and their treatment in the garden is different from that of other spring-blooming bulbs. They have a certain formal elegance which mixes less easily with other bulbs, and as a result, they are best planted in beds with major emphasis on groupings of one type and color.

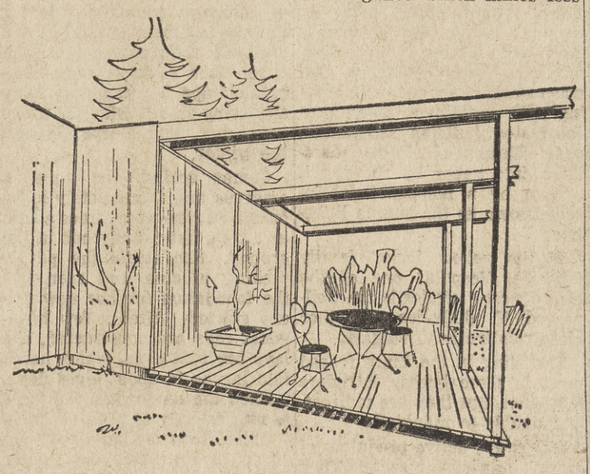
In Contra Costa, plant tulips toward the latter half of fall and plant them deeper than normally recommended. CAN members get best results from planting tulips at least eight inches deep, theory being that one should get them down to cooler ground where the roots have ample time to develop before top growth starts.

PLANTING DEPTH for the others varies.

Try six inches with daffodils and Dutch hyacinths; three inches for Dutch iris; two for anemones and ranunculus; two for freesias and grape hyacinths. Use bonemeal underneath the bulbs at planting time, but never in direct contact with them.

Make sure you eliminate pests by dusting the bulbs at planting time with an insecticide. And if you want to top them with a cover of alyssum or violas for the bulbs to grow up through, by all means do.

This makes them more beautiful than ever.



SIMPLE WOOD patio deck becomes extraordinary with addition of outriggers. Outrigger is a pair of western red cedar 2x8 boards nailed one on each side of a 4x6 cedar post. Space outriggers wide apart and paint them to match house trim or use a vivid accent shade.

Your Buffet Parties Can Be Simplified!

A buffet dinner is the happiest solution for most hostesses—perfect if you haven't much space or help.

Here are some ideas to make buffet party-giving even easier and more fun for you:

Save space by serving the main course and side dishes on one large platter.

Try meat loaf with browned small potatoes, glazed carrots and buttered peas.

Have easy-to-serve desserts. A large bowl of fresh sliced fruits or berries is colorful and tasty.

Make a centerpiece with a pyramid of oranges and lemons (anchored together with toothpicks).

Put green leaves between the layers of fruit and place the arrangement in a large white bowl.

Your guests will be able to eat more comfortably with small folding tables or trays.

If you can't avoid lap service, do avoid serving foods that require cutting.

Make the arrangement of the buffet in logical order so that the plates are near the serving dish.

Have the silver, napkins and plates lined up at either end of serving area.

Pass the beverage after the guests have been served.

How to Store Patent Shoes

Apply a coat of petroleum jelly to your patent leather summer shoes before storing them for the winter.

Simply dip a Kleenex towel in the jelly and glaze over outer surfaces carefully.

The jelly retards trying and cracking of the patent and will help retain the appearance of your shoes.

Tuck a paper towel in each toe to help them keep their shape.

Yellow Jacket Isn't All 'Bad'

By GLADYS SHALBY

Noticed fewer yellow jackets of late?

Their disappearance is not because the weather permits fewer barbecues for these uninvited guests to attend, but the fall weather itself is the cause of their dying off.

Perhaps if a little more were known about the home life and habits of the wasps, these pestiforous neighbors might be greeted with less antagonism next summer — but then again, they might not.

Out of some 2500 species of wasps in North America only about 50 can inflict painful stings. Yellow jackets live in large highly developed wasp communities, second only in their "social system" to their more elite cousins, the honey bees.

Wasps are more intelligent than the well-disciplined bees, some entomologists claim, having observed wasps actually map out routes to their homesite, where bees seem to have a homing instinct.

YELLOW JACKETS and bees have similar caste systems, a colony being made up of the queen, or fertile female, the workers, sterile females, and the drones or males. But where bees perpetuate their hive, keeping a constant colony, a yellow jacket colony lasts but from spring to fall of one year, the young queens being the only survivors.

Bees use wax, emitted from glands of their bodies, for construction material of cells of the hives while wasps build their homes of paper. In fact, the social wasp is the world's first paper manufacturer, using an original recipe for converting well and mixing with saliva. There is some evidence that wasp workers are today, in keeping with the times, using prefabricated building substances, wood fibres and similar materials, into paper by chewing it strewn by a non-beneficial insect known as the human litterbug.

In the yellow jacket family (species, Vespula) one of the commonest varieties is the well-named V. diabolica. Another close relative is V. vulgaris.

The sting is the thing feared most in these brassy intruders to picnics, but they are indirectly valuable to mankind.

Wasps are active predators of many injurious insects. They help to cross pollinate flowers and clean up decaying material.

Unlike the honey bee which gathers only pollen, nectar and other sweets, the wasp has a more diversified appetite, in fact is nearly omnivorous.

ADULT yellow jacket wasps gorge primarily on sweets, fruit juices, etc., but the young are fed mainly protein, such as insects and caterpillars, not to mention spiders, (which are also beneficial, by the way.) Insects are often overpowered in flight, crushed by the worker's strong mandibles, then chewed to hamburger before being fed to the larvae.

A study of a small wasp nest showed that workers brought home no less than 2000 flies in a single day. Wasps are natural enemies of oak moth caterpillars, which have been conspicuous by their absence this summer.

Another wasp, the pugnacious hornet, will sting apparently for no reason at all, but the yellow jacket is not really cantankerous. It just resents being repulsed when crashing a patio party. It only gets mad enough to sting when a human starts swinging and swatting, or when he unwatchfully bites into the same bit of steak the yellow jacket is enjoying.

The honey bee stings but once, then dies when the barbed stinger is torn from its body because it is unable to remove it from the taregt it sought. But the straight stinger of the yellow jacket can be used again and again, without harm to its owner. In all bees and wasps, only the female carries a stinger, which is an undeveloped ovipositor.

AS AUTUMN approaches, work in the yellow jacket nest slows down, the old queen and the workers begin to die, their life span at an end. The last job of the workers is to kill all remaining unhatched young.

The drones, who have loafed all summer, now leave the nest in company with the young queens for their nuptial flight, after which the males die. Each queen then seeks a snug hideout, clamps her jaws on some anchoring object, folds her wings about her, and sleeps through the winter.

Comes spring, the queen emerges and immediately looks for a nest site—sometimes a hole in a tree, but usually one in the ground. She starts the paper-making process and soon has the foundation for her new colony started. After a few hexagonal cells are constructed, she lays her first eggs, which hatch into larvae in about eight days.

Then the unaided queen must work tirelessly to provide freshly killed food for her brood. In 10 or 12 days the young enter the pupa stage and rest, wrapped in mummy bags, for another 12 days. The first brood, fed inadequately by the lone queen are smaller than the workers that follow. The workers take over the job of providing for their ever-enlarging colony, leaving the queen nothing to do for the rest of the summer except to supply eggs. Special food develops queen wasps, drones are produced from unfertile eggs.

A yellow jacket queen is capable of laying 25,000 eggs, but a usual colony numbers from five to 15,000 workers with only a hundred or so queens and males.

SOME MAY care to experiment upon the advice in an old almanac: "While a person holds his breath, the skin is made impenetrable to the sting of a bee or wasp."

Nothing is said about what happens when one exhales. The same source claims paper wasp nests catch fire by spontaneous combustion (but that is wishful thinking) and also that the wasp larvae make excellent fish bait. The latter may be obtained by destroying the nests after methods recommended by our county farm advisor, Milton R. Bell who can be reached at 960 East Street, Pittsburg.

One last suggestion is to try what some householders in the 1860s did—suspend wasp nests in their houses, "thus eliminating the common housefly."

PREPARING a highly-recommended (but poisonous) ingredient for getting rid of the pesky yellowjackets that plagued the local area recently is William Gordon of 29 Longridge Road, Orinda. The "traps" of strychnine and liver helped eliminate the pests, but not half as much as the changing season, Gladys Shally says (see story)—and yellowjackets aren't as bad as they seem, according to Mrs. Shally.

Spear Rezone Application Turned Down

C. L. Spear's application to rezone 31 acres in Lafayette was unanimously rejected by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon at a public hearing in Martinez.

Spear had asked for rezoning of Single Family Residential District-40 (R-40) property to Single Family Residential District-20 (R-20).

Employers Seek More Skilled Help

A decline in unskilled part-time jobs and, conversely, a demand for skilled help in filling full-time jobs was noted at the junior college level during the 1961-62 school year.

Richard E. Peterson, Contra Costa College placement counselor, in his annual report filed with College Director George J. Faul, said that the majority of part-time job requests by employers were for unskilled workers, and that part-time jobs now are confined to service station work for men and department store sales jobs for women.

On the other hand, in full-time employment, Peterson's office was unable to fill a number of jobs for lack of qualified students. Demands were for trained secretaries or stenographers with competent typing and shorthand ability, and for technical and laboratory workers.

"The University of California and the State Public Health Association Laboratories in Berkeley together could absorb all our stenographic and technical graduates, provided they are of uniformly high ability," Peterson said.

He described as "surprisingly small" the number of students, graduates or otherwise, who applied for permanent job placement, adding that the able student usually finds his own job, while the student of marginal ability "is completely discouraged."

"Many students prefer to postpone making the decision to join the labor force.

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

Much Ado in Moraga

NEVER WAS such a week in Moraga . . . The World Series Upheaval across the Bay . . . The V.P. of the United States arrived on the St. Mary's football field shortly after 12 noon Thursday . . . Out in orbit, Schirra set an American space flight record . . . and the Volunteer Firemen had their annual ball Saturday p.m. at Carroll Country Club.

The highlight of the ball may not make the big city society pages, but it occurred when Al Ferreira dumped a garbage pail over Manuel Freitas' head. This was no way to treat Manuel. He won third door prize: a toy fire engine. Don Anderson of L.A. won first prize: a portable TV. Lois Woodmanse won the bike.

Ben and Mae Turnipseed came all the way from Lovelock, Nev. to attend the ball (as well as a game at Candlestick Park.) Ben was formerly a Utah Construction foreman and one of the original Volunteers.

The Brass from the Walnut Creek, Orinda and Danville fire departments supported the FUNd raiser championed by Moraga F.D. brass, Chief Al Baitx.

Dinger and Bill Clement tended bar . . . Dancin' were Mary and Woody Brown . . . Janet and Earl Bergfeld . . . Marguerite and Bert Bennett . . Marie and Charlie Wright . . . Marwell Carr won the twist contest while her Sam applauded . . . Dick Irving helped at the entrance table while his Rosemary, another champion twister, twisted . . . Fire Commissioner Harry Rohrer and Irene greeted guests . . . Ball Chairman Vic Pagliero says that the affair was such a success, little Moragans need not fret—Santa will be by in his jeep.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON arrived at St. Mary's in time for lunch. Forty were served a sumptuous menu which included boned Cornish game hen stuffed with wild rice. At the reception, Art Fleuti, with an assist by John Sanders and other Lions, helped open champagne bottles, which we assume bore the Christian Brothers label. Yummy tidbits L.B.J. had a choice of at the reception included water chestnuts, broiled chicken livers wrapped in bacon, prawns molded into something elegant, and Swedish meat balls . . . L.B.J. left by the same helicopter in which he arrived—not furnished by the army, navy or marines, but the San Francisco-Oakland (private) Helicopter Service. And Brother Michael's inauguration as president of St. Mary's was surely the most impressive, colorful spectacle this quiet valley ever did see.

Couples who enjoyed playing the Twilight Two Ball golf series at Carroll Country Club enjoyed a dinner celebration at Marini's the other Thursday p.m. Among the revelers were Harriet and Ralph Schwarz, Pres and Jeanne Perdue, Polly and Ken Price, Millie and Harold Montgomery, Gina and Tom Carroll, Zack and Shirley Bogart, Les and Edith Reed, Lew and Kay Blodgett.

POT LUCK for the Moraga Parents' Club last night at the old school was a huge success. Clare Long arranged who should bring which pots. Faculty and parents enjoyed the potluck and dancing.

BOOK DRIVE (door to door) for eighth grade students at Camino Pablo will be tomorrow. The Parents Club's Library Committee asks us to look over our books to see if we can spare any classics, children's books, non-fiction or novels (hard cover or paperback). When a committee member rings your bell, have your contribution ready.

A delegation of these 8th graders went to a recent school board meeting and asked that the books in the school library be "upgraded". They are studying Greek mythology under the titian-haired Vassar grad, Mrs. Gilda Gillooly. Any teacher who can inspire kids to want better books in this day of "Mad" and "Cracked" deserves our all-out support.

DATEBOOK. Tonight and tomorrow night are your last chances to see the hilarious Laf-Frantics of '62 at the Lafayette Town Hall. My own favorite number was Fran Ferriter singing "The Will To Fail." . . . Tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. at Marini's, the Moraga Newcomers' Club will have their fall luncheon. A $2.25 ducat will include the chance for a door prize, lunch and a talk by John Wheatman, decorator. Among the gals who've been working to make this affair a success are the Mmes. Robert Cook, Robert Ottesen, Roy Scheve, Richard Avery, James Drennan (chairman), and Donald Hubbard . . . Tomorrow at 9 a.m. and Sunday at 9 a.m. Carroll Country Club will have a championship tourney. Every club member is eligible . . . October 20 is the beatnik dinner dance at Carroll. Mrs. Freddy Onisko is in charge of reservations.

PARK DISTRICT for Moraga will have to get on the January ballot in order for a district to be formed in February, recorded in March and receive funds in September. Initial aim of the district is the purchase of the Moraga School and two acres surrounding it, a site dear to all Moragans' hearts. If you want a park there instead of (maybe) a gas station, support Jim Barcelon, president of the Park Committee and his pioneering workers who include Jack Taylor and Yvonne Mauzey.

The Board of Supervisors Tuesday suggested that the citizen's committee talk with county administrator J. P. McBrien about forming a service area instead of the park and rec. district. D. A. John Nejedly promises his co-operation.

Moraga Valley Community Club is backing the committee. Volunteers (group or individual) are needed. Moraga needs YOU! (finger pointing.)

Attention Dogs! Cooler Shows Set

Dogs, dog owners and dog lovers will all be pleased to know that shows planned for October 20 and 21 were especially scheduled to avoid summer heat.

The Annual Contra Costa Kennel Club Show and the Sir Francis Drake Show, formerly held in July, have been delayed for cooler weather at the county fairgrounds in Antioch.

The kennel club, in addition to an all-breed competition, will conduct an obedience trial.

In other dog news, the Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club will hold a rummage sale Saturday in the Walnut Creek Recreation Building.

Robert Babcock, Orinda, landscape architect, states that he has designed the pre-school playyard, keeping in mind the children's needs and interests. The job has been a twofold one—making the playground interesting to the children in the nursery school and making the yard an integral part of the general landscape plan of St. Mark's Church, according to Babcock.

John Scott of Orinda has designed and built many pieces of equipment for the nursery school. Scott, with help from members of the church, made the child-size kitchen appliances, storage cabinets, easels and rocking boat-steps.

Mail Order Land Frauds Attacked by Realtors

A program to protect the public from mail-order real estate swindles has been adopted by the Contra Costa Board of Realtors.

The six-point program has been set up by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the local board is a member.

The association urged the 1434 local boards of realtors to check on promotional efforts in their areas to sell distant land tracts by mail on the basis of advertised claims, according to J. N. Smith, local board president.

The California Real Estate Association has also adopted the program throughout the state involving 172 real estate boards and 137,000 members.

"There has been a wave of promotions recently by unprincipled operators resulting in sale of land sites for vacation or retirement homes that are ill-suited for use or investment," Smith said.

SMITH CITED an instance of a promoter who advertised mountain tracts but neglected to tell buyers of a lava cover effectively blocking atempts to get water.

An instance from Lake Valley, Oregon, was recently reported to The Sun by Charles E. West, formerly of 1132 Sunset Loop, Walnut Creek.

THE SIX points of the national association's program are:

1. Cautioning the public against purchase of land without personal inspection or sound real
2. Realtor collaboration with law enforcement agencies to enforce existing laws and correct abuses in land sales.
3. Proposed legislation to regulate sale of land both in states where land is located and where land is promoted.
4. Preparation of a basic information guide for land purchasers.
5. Cooperative work and/or appeal to publications to observe certain standards for land sale advertisement.
6. Provision for a continuing study team to investigate all abuses in land subdivision schemes.

Sorrows remembered sweeten present joy.—Robert Pollok.

'Blow Your Horn' Opens At Geary

"Come Blow Your Horn," which opens at the Geary on October 15 for a limited engagement, is the ideal play for theatregoers, performers, producers and backers, say producers.

A domestic comedy, it contains all the ingredients that made "Life With Father" a universal hit.

Its four-week engagement will run through November 10.

Opening two years ago on Broadway with Hal March as its lead, it flourished for two years and saw many companies in Europe, Australia and even Tasmania, reproduce its humor, all with identical success.

Produced by William Hammerstein — the fourth of a royal family in the American theatre —and Michael Ellis, the scion of Bucks County who has produced more plays than the Messrs. Shubert and WPA Federal Theatre, the comedy went on to reach the ultimate next to a Pulitzer Prize. It was bought and filmed for a movie starring Frank Sinatra.

Its author, a fugitive from Warner's publicity department and a writer of TV programs, has transformed "Little Me" from the hard covers of a book to the footlights as a vehicle for Sid Caesar, with Sid playing all seven of the leading roles.

There is a sweet joy that comes to us through sorrow.
—Charles Haddon Spurgeon

Bolshoi Ballet 'Prima' Has Beauty, Grace

Prima ballerina with the Bolshoi Ballet when the world famous company appears at the Fox Theater in San Francisco October 18 through 24 will be Maya Plisetskaya, termed by many experts "the world's most exciting dancer."

Miss Plisetskaya set the ballet world agog with her dancing when the company last appeared in this country in spring of 1959.

Born into a family of artists active in drama, ballet, music, painting and the cinema, the atmosphere at home nurtured in her a love for music and the theater.

Her talents and love of dancing were noticed by her uncle, Asaf Messerer, famed choreographer and teacher of such dancers as Ulanova, Lepeshinskaya and Prehrazhensky, and he advised that she be entered in the Bolshoi Ballet School when she was eight years old.

There she learned with astonishing ease. To keep her interest alive, her teacher had to start her on advanced exercises ahead of her class.

Plisetskaya's style is characterized by a broad gesture, a majestic step and a wide leap.

On the present tour she is accompanied by her husband, Rodion Shedrin, a prominent Soviet composer.

Service Asks For Visitor Volunteers

To fight the loneliness of older people, the Friendly Visitor Service is expanding its volunteer program in the county, according to the Service's Mrs. Jane McClelland.

More volunteers are needed, and Mrs. McClelland last week asked potential Friendly Visitors the following questions:

Do you really like older people?

Have you time to give on a regular weekly basis?

Could your enthusiasm and cheerfulness help lift others out of discouragement?

Interested persons who can answer these questions affirmatively are asked to contact the service, either at the Lafayette office, 3184 Old Tunnel Road, or at the Volunteer Bureau at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

A visit from a friend can often do more to rehabilitate the aged than quantities of medicine and professional care, Mrs. McClelland said.

HANDICAPPED

Good Will Industries provides employment for 23 handicapped men and women from Contra Costa County. On the payroll of the Crusade-supported agency are seven from Richmond, six from Walnut Creek, five from San Pablo, two from El Cerrito, two from Concord and one from Pittsburg.
